

Wagner Housing Act Is Put Under Supervision Of Ickes' Department

Senate Adopts by 40 to 37 Vote Amendment Giving Interior Department "General Supervision" Over Program.

WARM DEBATE

Senator Clark Sees Effort by Department "To Reach Out and Grab New Authority."

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP)—The senate voted, after a warm debate today, to put administration of the Wagner Housing Act under Secretary Ickes' Interior Department.

The chamber adopted 40 to 37 an amendment giving the department "general supervision" over the housing program. Ickes asked for the provision.

In the debate preceding adoption, Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) supported the pending amendment to the Wagner bill to place the program under Ickes' controlling creation of a separate agency would be a reflection on the administration.

Lewis said he could not conceive of the origin of opposition to putting the new program under Ickes unless it was contractors and suppliers of building materials.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), who had opposed the amendment by Senator Logan (D-Ky.) to place the agency under the Interior Department, replied that he intended no reflection on Ickes. He said Ickes did not now have anything to do with housing, and the proposal was an effort by the department "to reach out and grab new authority."

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said the bill was drawn on the theory of creating an independent agency, and if it was to be placed under Interior, the bill should be sent back to committee and "entirely rewritten on that basis."

20 Per Cent Limit to One State.
The senate voted yesterday to prohibit expenditure of more than 20 per cent of housing funds in any one state. This restriction was suggested by Senator Tydings (D-Md.) as a substitute for a proposal by Senator Adams (D-Colo.) to distribute funds according to population.

In urging that the interior secretary be given control of the housing program, Senator Logan (D-Ky.) told the senate the amendment would add another independent establishment "to the 100 or more we're trying to reduce."

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), however, opposed the change as did Senator Wagner (D-NY), author of the bill.

Clark said the housing program would be "destroyed" if turned over to the Interior Department. Housing activities as carried on by the PWA under Secretary Ickes, he contended, were "completely at variance with the theory of this bill."

The Wagner bill would authorize loans and grants to state and local housing authorities for low-rent housing construction and slum clearance.

MAY BRING U. S. FLEET TO THE WORLD'S FAIR

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—World Fair officials want Billy Rose, the little showman with the big ideas, one better today—they announced plans to bring the United States fleet here as a chief attraction in 1939.

Rose, appropriated Lake Erie for his aquaduct at the Cleveland Great Lakes Exposition.

Fair officials said the Navy Department had agreed, if international developments did not prevent, to concentrate a major portion of the fleet in New York's harbor early in the summer of 1939. The fair opens April 30, 1939.

The fleet movement would bring about 100 fighting vessels from the west coast, where most are now stationed.

YONKERS MAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT TO TRUCK

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP) Joseph Spilot, 51, of 25 Woodland avenue, Yonkers, was killed today when, Police Sergeant James O'Connor said, his truck hit a parked truck and trailer operated by Albert Dagenkolb of Syracuse.

Spilot was employed by Joseph DiMasse, of 241 East Tenth street, New York city, and his body was sent to a mortuary pending instructions from DiMasse, O'Connor said.

No charge has been placed against Dagenkolb, who escaped injury and whose truck was damaged only slightly, the sergeant added.

Ten Plead Innocent.
Trenton, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Pleas of innocence were entered before Federal Judge Philip Forman today by ten Monmouth county men charged with violating a Federal statute prohibiting interstate trafficking in lottery tickets. Bail totalling $15,000 was continued and the men released to await trial. No trial date was set.

Killed Mother And Two Sisters, Took Own Life, Is Report

Pittsburgh, Aug. 6 (AP)—Frank Gregor found the bullet-pierced bodies of his mother, two sisters and a brother in a bedroom of their west end home today.

Homicide detectives Fred Good and Edward Scanlon said they found a note signed by Bernard Gregor, 20 the brother, stating: "Oh, if there were some way other than this out of our misery."

Bernard lay near the bed, a rifle beside him. The sisters, Marian, 13, and Betty, 17, were sprawled close together, bullet wounds in their heads. They were in night clothing.

The body of Mrs. Anna Gregor, the mother, lay crumpled at the foot of the bed.

Bernard's note, dated August 4, continued: "At one time or other I've heard all these say something exactly like they wished they were dead."

"So maybe I am really right. There is absolutely nothing I am the only one who knows what I intend to do. I told mother to have some kind of a will made out in case something would happen to her at any time."

Herbert Schutte, a neighbor, said "We heard the shots about 5 a. m., and got up and looked around. When we couldn't find anything we went back to bed."

"Frank found the bodies when he came in this morning."

The rifle found in the bedroom in the second floor apartment was a single shooter, police said, and would have to be released for each shot.

SENATORS STUDYING TAX EVASION PLAN MEASURE

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP)—Members of a congressional committee on tax evasion said today that if the Senate and House accept their recommendations, a "death sentence" awaits personal holding companies.

They submitted their report yesterday, giving specific suggestions on how to close loopholes in the law. The recommendations would disallow virtually every tax deduction now granted the "incorporated pocketbooks" and would boost surtaxes on undistributed income to as much as 65 and 75 per cent. Representative Vinson (D-Ky.) said that if the proposals were enacted, there would be no advantage to anyone in creating a personal holding company.

He said the tax committee's recommendations could result also in the government collecting taxes on the gains realized from dissolution of holding companies.

BRITISH-ITALY TO MEET AND SETTLE DIFFERENCES

Rome, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Italian government announced today that British and Italian diplomats would meet in Rome for formal conversations to settle differences between the two countries.

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, proposed conversations to British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who recently exchanged friendship letters with Premier Mussolini.

Rome and London have been at odds since Britain insisted on imposition of sanctions against Italy during Italian conquest of Ethiopia. The tension was renewed with the outbreak of the Spanish civil war.

Hitler Receives Insurgent

Berchtesgaden, Germany, Aug. 6 (AP)—Adolf Hitler and the new Spanish Insurgent ambassador exchanged warm compliments and confident predictions today. Der Fuehrer suggested a "livelier" exchange of goods between Germany and her insurgent friends.

Insurgents Again Bombard Madrid, City Caught Unawares by Onslaught

Madrid, Aug. 6 (AP)—Insurgent artillerymen pumped explosives into Madrid again today. Several persons were killed and others wounded by projectiles that blasted into Puerto Del Sol, central plaza of the beleaguered metropolis.

The onslaught lasted several hours with most of the shells falling along Gran Via, the city's "Broadway." Alcal street and districts around Puerto Del Sol.

Long lines of trolley cars stood empty on the edge of the battered district. Passengers and pedestrians scrambled to safety in nearby buildings, doorways, subways and cellars when the attack was started.

Puerto Del Sol—Gate of the Sun—which had renewed much of its old life as the hub of Madrid during the comparative lull in artillery attacks in the past few weeks, was caught unawares when the first shell whined in from the west.

The square was quickly deserted, however, but not before Generalissimo Francisco Franco's big guns had leveled a toll of dead and injured.

The insurgents opened fire shortly before 1 a. m. and within an hour several hundred shells had fallen. As the attack continued on into daylight the area of destruction spread over a considerable portion of Central Madrid.

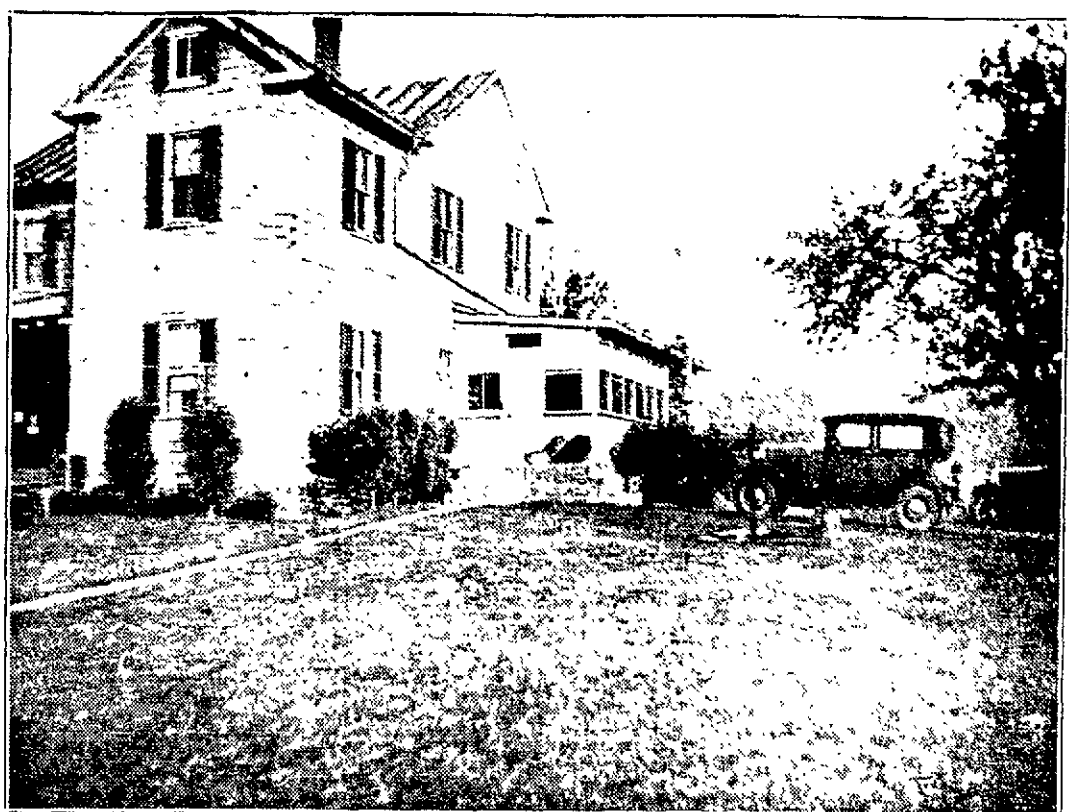

Government batteries opened a fierce counter-fire and the former capital echoed to the thunderous duel.

While thousands huddled in places of refuge, however, a cool-headed city employee whose job it is to sprinkle the streets in this hot weather, went about his business as usual.

Otherwise Central Madrid had the aspect of a deserted city.

When the firing finally tapered off the street cars began moving and Madrilenos went cautiously about their day's work.

Scene of Recent Shooting of Ferro

Continuous Blasting Is Basis of Action

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—Because construction work at shaft 23 of New York's Delaware water supply project goes on 24 hours a day and seven days a week, thirty-one residents of Yonkers have started action for $22,000 damages in State Supreme Court.

They complained, in the suit filed yesterday, that their health is being impaired by loss of sleep caused by the explosions, rumble of heavy machinery, shouts of workmen and the glare of lights.

They asked for a permanent injunction, limiting work to eight hours a day and six days a week, and named as defendants the City of New York, the City of Yonkers, the New York Board of Water Supply and the Dravo Corporation, a Pittsburgh construction firm. Hearings will be held August 10.

Fire Board Has Purchased Truck

The Board of Fire Commissioners held an adjourned meeting Thursday evening at the Central Fire Station at which time the board placed an order for a new Mack fire truck for $12,950. The truck is to be delivered on or before November 1. The funds to be used for the purchase of the truck were appropriated by the common council Tuesday evening, and will be taken from the surplus funds of the city.

The truck was sold to the fire board by W. J. Hollinger of Poughkeepsie, the Mack dealer who recently sold a 750-gallon pumper to the Poughkeepsie fire department. The Poughkeepsie truck was brought to Kingston last night for a demonstration.

Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $505,438,764.59; expenditures, $729,530,876.16, including $226,215,125.72 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $224,132,111.66; gross debt, $36,773,323,253.36; increase of $57,108,227.34 over the previous day's total; $12,452,189,179.51, including $1,230,766,976.10 of inactive gold.

Mrs. Oats, Miller Await Grand Jury Action in Assault

John B. Miller and Mrs. Elizabeth Frances Oats, both of Zena, who have been held at the Ulster county jail since Friday, July 30, under charges of assault in the first degree, were held for the grand jury following an adjourned hearing before Judge Frederick G. Traver this morning. The defendants were represented at the hearing by Matthew V. Cahill, Bernhardt S. Kramer appearing for the district attorney's office.

Miller and Mrs. Oats are held in connection with the shooting early on the morning of July 30 of Charles Ferro of Milton. The shooting occurred at the Oats home, which is located on the road running north from Zena to Shults Corners and so far as has been shown took place some time between midnight and one o'clock in the morning.

Ferro was shot, officials claim, by Miller, as he stood on a concrete porch leading to the summer kitchen at the Oats home. According to the statements made the shot was fired from a window, less than a dozen feet away, a 12-gauge Stevens shotgun being the weapon used. The charge centered Ferro's right leg below the knee, tearing a hole through the leg. He dragged his way, in a semi-circular route, nearly 200 feet from the place where he was shot to near the entrance to the driveway from the public road and it was a considerable time later that he was taken to the Kingston Hospital in the Conner ambulance, in a serious condition.

At the hearing this morning it was stated that his condition now is fair and that apparently he is on the road to recovery.

Tells of Investigation
Trooper Arthur Reilly, who with Troopers Kierker and McGarraghan went to the scene of the shooting later, in answer to a call by Miller, gave details of his investigation and later conversations with Miller and Mrs. Oats. Corporal Mahoney of the B. C. I., who was called in on the case, also testified to conversations had and statements made.

Details brought out at the hearing this morning were substantially the same as those given in The Freeman account of the affair, on July 30.

Briefly they are to the effect that Ferro drove to the Oats home some time after midnight, blew his horn and then got out of his car and went to the door of the summer kitchen, where he knocked on the door. That Mrs. Oats, sleeping in a downstairs room, went to the window and had a conversation with Ferro, who said he wanted to see Miller. She denied that Miller was at the house and ordered Ferro to leave, but finally went upstairs where Miller was sleeping and called him. Miller came downstairs, according to the statements made, took down the shotgun from its place over the kitchen door and shot Ferro, pointing the gun through the window. Miller and Mrs. Oats then drove to the West New York Hotel at Shults Corners, from which place Miller telephoned to Trooper Reilly.

Refused to Leave.

The reason given for the shooting was that Ferro had refused to leave the place when ordered to do so by Mrs. Oats, according to the statement made to Trooper Reilly.

Corporal Mahoney said that Mrs. Oats in conversation had said that she had seen Ferro have a gun and also something which looked like a knife and that apparently he was drawing the knife across the screen. Later in investigation at the house had disclosed no sign of knife or gun and the screen showed no sign of a knife having been used on it.

Strike Spreading to Brickyards Upstate

Cornwall, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—A strike in Hudson river brick plants, started nearly a month ago in four yards at Kingston, has spread to this village, where three plants are affected.

J. H. Suderley, Sr., president of the Sutton-Suderley plant, said more than 50 of the 200 men employed at his yard and the Powell and Minnick and Roach Hook yards were out. The men, members of the Brick Handlers' Union, demanded 20 per cent wage increases and a 44-hour week, Suderley said.

Meanwhile, nearly a dozen river trucks have refused to transport bricks until the strike is settled, he added. Employees of a fifth plant at Kingston, the Hutton Company, also have struck, the management said.

Smith-Walker In Tammany Feud

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—An edict to "clean house" in Tammany, issued by Chief Clerk Christopher Sullivan in a move to purge the hall of rebellious elements, stood out today in the wiggam's bitter internal feud over the New Deal.

Behind that struggle, political observers saw a fight to the finish between two Tammany titans—James J. Walker, deposed "Mayor Jimmy" in New York's roaring late twenties, and former Governor Alfred E. Smith, the "Happy Warrior" of bygone days.

Ostensibly in political cliques, the two men were viewed as behind-the-scenes powers, aligned against each other in the fight over whether Tammany will enter the New Deal fold.

The fight was brought to a head by Leader Sullivan's attempt to bring to heel insubordinate Tammany chairmen opposed to supporting United States Senator Royal S. Copeland in the primary nominating campaign.

"They're either behind Copeland or they're out," was Sullivan's succinct ultimatum last night.

Senator Copeland, a critic of the Roosevelt administration, has been endorsed by a Tammany majority. A powerful minority faction, however, in which "Jimmy" Walker's name daily looms prominently, openly said it would support the New Deal candidate—first Grover A. Whalen, now former Judge Jeremiah Titus Mahoney.

Walker originally urged Mahoney as a compromise candidate, but when Senator Copeland, on advice from Smith, refused to withdraw, Whalen withdrew two days ago in favor of Mahoney, a man he said was "better equipped" for the task of bucking Tammany.

WHITNEY NAMED DIRECTOR OF WEST SHORE RAILROAD

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized George Whitney, New York city, today to be a director of the New York Central Railroad and of the West Shore Railroad.

The commission further authorized Whitney to hold directorships in any other offices with 95 other railroads in the New York Central system.

$1,500 Robbery.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—Four armed men today robbed Nicholas Marrano, a contractor, of $4,500 he drew from a bank to pay his workers on a Bronx building project. Marrano told police he had just stepped from his automobile in front of the building when four men drove up, took the money and fled.

Nearing "Zero Hour" for Chinese-Japanese Conflict Sends Americans Fleeing

Mayor Assured WPA Will Return Jobs to Non-Aliens

WPA workers laid off recently because of foreign activity will be reinstated in their jobs, Mayor Conrad J. Heiseleman announced this morning after talking with Lester Herzog, state director of the WPA.

The mayor told a Freeman reporter that he had talked with Director Herzog on the telephone and was informed by the state head that "Your local manager of the WPA has the right to put the discharged workers back again if they present their citizenship papers."

In the recent layoff of the WPA, approximately 80 men lost their jobs because they were classed as aliens or were more than 65 years of age.

Mayor Heiseleman also said that although the federal law states that no alien may be given government work, the state law provides that he must be taken care of under home relief.

TERMS CONTRIBUTION SUGGESTION "RIDICULOUS"

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP)—Robert R. Young, New York railway magnate, told Senate investigators today it was "ridiculous" to suggest that he be expected to influence them by contributing $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund.

He testified before the Senate Railroad Finance Committee that he was "just as indignant as you are" to learn that half of his donation had been taken as contribution by the solicitors who sold him 150 Democratic National Convention books.

"I would much rather have given $7,500 directly to the Democratic National Committee," he declared heatedly.

"My understanding was that the books cost only about $20, and that the rest of the $15,000 would go to the party."

While he testified Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) made public what he said was a letter from a Lancaster, Pa., contractor to the Democratic National Committee. It demanded return of a $250 contribution the writer asserted was made "under verbal threats."

The contractor, J. S. Warfel, wrote he contributed the sum because "I really feared some reprisals might be made if I did not go along."

He said he was doing some work for the Public Works Administration, and was told by a solicitor "that it would be to my best interests to go along" because "everything he did was reported to Mr. Farley's office and was passed on by the 'big boys'."

The letter was addressed to Oliver A. Quayle, Jr., acting treasurer of the National Committee.

ILLING PLANS CONTEST TO CHOOSE "MISS KINGSTON"

Mark Huling, proprietor of Huling's Barn across the Washington avenue viaduct, today announced that a beauty pageant would be held at The Barn Thursday night, August 12, to select Miss Kingston.

"The girl selected as Miss Kingston," Mr. Huling said, "will go to Albany to compete for the title of Miss Empire State and then, if she wins will go to Atlantic City for the finals and the beauty crown offered to Miss America."

Further details will be announced in the near future, he said.

ORDERS OPERATION

When Dominick Boccassini refused to have incurably ill wife, Mary, operated on after her inevitable death to save her unborn baby, physicians in the Philadelphia General Hospital, where she was confined, appealed to Judge E. Kalodner (above), the overruled the husband's objections and ordered the operation, declaring "even an unborn baby has its rights."

Judge Crater Will Be Legally "Dead" After This Evening

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—The shadowy figure of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, missing for seven years, drifted today into the eerie "half world" of the legal dead.

His fate—whether murdered, a suicide, a victim of amnesia, or a fugitive from fears connected with his political career—remains one of the most baffling enigmas in crime annals.

It all, the FBI said, but eccentric jurist has until this evening to step forth and reclaim his identity.

For it was on August 6, 1930, seven years ago tonight, that Justice Crater arose from a gay dinner with friends at a Times Square restaurant, stepped alone into a waiting taxi and rode away into the darkness.

Ever since, investigators have searched to the four corners of the world. One after clue has been hunted down, in vain.

Today his wife, or widow, Mrs. Stella M. Crater, prepared to go into court to have him declared legally dead—under the "Enchanted" law which derives from Alfred Lord Tennyson's poem of the shipwrecked mariner who returned from an absence of many years to find his wife re-married and the mother of another man's child.

Support Resolution

Zurich, Switzerland, Aug. 6 (AP)—The majority of American delegates to the World Zionist Congress supported today a resolution interpreted by some observers as favoring the principle of the British plan to partition Palestine. The resolution, presented by the Zionist Labor Bloc which controls 45 per cent of the voting strength of the congress, would empower the Zionist executive committee to "conduct negotiations for the purpose of ascertaining precisely the scope of the British government's proposal."

Further details will be announced in the near future, he said.

Special Congressional Session Seen As Demands Increase for Crop Loans

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP)—Increasing demands for federal crop loans led today to the possibility of a special October session of Congress to consider a general farm legislation.

President Roosevelt may call such a session, said Democratic Leader Barkley, if the Senate agriculture committee is ready to present a detailed crop control and price stabilization program.

Simultaneously, it was learned that Secretary Wallace will lead a squad of top-ranking farm administration officials into the corn belt in the next two weeks to discuss next year's soil conservation program.

Some of these meetings will be mass plenaries at which Wallace and his assistants will speak. They also may take up general farm legislation, including the "ever-normal granary" which President and Wallace contend must be tied in with crop loans. The Senate and House agriculture committees decided a week ago to abandon farm legislation until January because they could not agree on details.

Southern senators and representatives, however, expressed concern over a slowly falling cotton market and the possibility of a huge crop. They advocated federal help to guarantee a cotton grower 12 cents a pound for his yield.

A committee talked to Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. The members said he told them he would consider making loans not only for cotton but possibly for wheat and corn if congressional leaders agreed to pass acreage limitation regulations at once, at a possible special session, or at the start of the next regular session in January.

Shortly afterward the 40 senators offered their petition for an autumn session, contending legislation next winter would be too late.

The demands for agricultural legislation confused the pre-adjournment situation. Leaders hope to end the session late this month, as soon as wage-hour, housing, and court bills are enacted.

United States Citizens Cross Yellow River Seeking Safety in Southern China as War Looms as Certainly.

CLASH IMMINENT

Opposing Armies Along Peiping-Hankow Railroad Near Collision at Great Wall.

(By The Associated Press)

The month-old Chinese-Japanese undeclared war approached today what military observers called a "zero hour" before expected widespread hostilities.

Opposing forces along the Peiping-Hankow Railroad seemed rapidly nearing a collision. To the north of Peiping, a clash was considered imminent along China's great wall.

The threat of conflict spread to the central China city of Hankow, and Americans were reported fleeing across the Yellow river to safety in the south.

Japan poured men and munitions into the trouble zone. China rushed central army units from Hankow to the north. Japan evacuated 2,500 Japanese citizens from the Hankow area, leaving only 500 civilian Japanese males and a garrison of 300 troops.

Japan's war minister told Parliament more troops were being rushed to North China. He said the empire might be forced to abandon its policy of "non-aggression." It Chinese attempt to recover the conquered Peiping and Tientsin area.

Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota asked Parliament the United States government is "carefully guarding against" repeated attempts to enlist American aviators for the Chinese army.

Americans Fleeing.

Nanking, August 6 (AP)—Americans were reported today to be fleeing across the Yellow river to safety in the south as the threat of armed conflict between Chinese and Japanese troops spread to the central China city of Hankow, capital of Hooch province.

Hankow is the southern terminus of the state's railroad from Peiping along which the main body of the Japanese army is advancing from the north. The city has sent the principal concentration point for Chinese armies being rushed by troop train from the south and west to halt the Japanese advance.

The opposing forces along the Peiping-Hankow Railroad were reported to be rapidly nearing a meeting. A Japanese column 60 miles to the east was drawing nearer to Chinese forces advancing on the railroad from Pukow.

To the north of Peiping a clash was considered imminent along the great wall.

The isolation of Peiping, now completely under the domination of the armies seeking to bring all North China under Japanese influence, was broken with the departure of the first train for Tientsin. Service on the Peiping-Tientsin line has been interrupted throughout the month-old undeclared war for possession of the area.

One hundred Americans and other foreigners were aboard the train. Most of the Americans were visitors who had been stranded in the historic Manchou capital by the crisis.

Japanese Reinforcements

According to advices reaching the American embassy here 14,000 Japanese reinforcements from the Kwangtung army in Manchoukoo arrived at Tangku, the port of Tientsin, during the first four days of August.

They were said to have been immediately distributed throughout the Peiping-Tientsin area with the majority of them at Tangchow, former capital of the East Hooch autonomous regime.

It is generally understood there are 20,000 Chinese troops at Hankow with units speeding northward every day.

There are an estimated 100 Americans in Hankow proper with additional missionaries in the outlying countryside. At Kikingshan, in Honan province 100 miles to the north, 300 American missionaries and their families are spending the summer.

The Japanese concession at Hankow was said to have been turned into an armed camp with Japanese Marines hurriedly erecting sandbags and barbed wire barricades.

The marines were landed from the Japanese river patrol on the Hwang Ho after the 11th Torpedo Boat flotilla declared a state of emergency existed in the area.

Japanese here charged that their Hankow concession had been ringed with Chinese barricades which were manned day and night by Chinese soldiers.

Americans Warned

In view of these developments and the likelihood of hostilities spreading with the advance south-

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bike Kays Car.
Birmingham, Ala.—A car climbing bicycle rider came out of a head-on collision better than the motorist.
C. L. Ellis, the driver, went to the hospital with head lacerations. Leland Robinson, Jr., the cyclist, suffered a scratched elbow.
Police said the bike apparently climbed up the auto's fender and struck Ellis.
Buggy Convicts.
Manchester, Conn.—A crowd gathered quickly in a field when word spread that five police officers were hunting an escaped convict.
Interest in the hunt waned, however, when it developed the "convicts" were Japanese beetles and the "cops" five uniformed department of agriculture inspectors seeking them.
Poetic Justice.
Charlotte, Mich.—Ray Sprague is one frame officer who lost in court.
Judge Russell R. McPeck ruled Sprague had to pay $400 damages and costs as the results of an automobile accident November 14, 1935, while he was pursuing a speeding truck. The judgment was in favor of Mrs. Mary Metes, one of four persons injured in the wreck.
Steady, Bob.
Kernville, Calif.—Comedian Bob Burns, on location here, was eating breakfast. A cowboy approached and said:
"You're the guy who's caused me all this trouble."
"Don't get you," said Bob.
"Everybody told me 'I saw your namesake in a picture,' so I went to see it, and darned if you didn't have a pik named Wainford."
Bob still didn't get it.
"My name's Irving J. Wainford," the cowboy said.
Bob explained he pulled the name out of the air years ago.
No Complaint.
Salmon, Idaho.—William Shamp, booked for disorderly conduct, dug his way out of jail with his bare hands and a short stick.
Asked what complaint had been filed, Police Judge Roy Shoup replied:
"Nothing. He was gone before we had time to make out a complaint."
Honey has been used as a food since prehistoric times.

Wild Brambles Are Easily Eradicated for Roadside Stand

Geneva, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Having proved that wild brambles, notably wild red raspberries, are a constant menace to black raspberry planting in New York state as a source of the destructive mosaic diseases, Prof. L. M. Cooley, plant disease specialist at the Experiment Station here, has developed methods of eradicating wild brambles that are entirely practical and satisfactory.

An account of the tests carried on by Prof. Cooley over a period of four years is given in a bulletin published by the station under the title of "Wild Bramble Eradication." A copy of the bulletin may be obtained upon request to the station at Geneva.

GARDEN HINTS

Such plants as azaleas, mountain laurel, rhododendrons, hollies, sourwood, most ferns, and many wildflowers demand an acid soil.

Peonies do not need to be divided except when the clumps are growing so large that the center stems are crowded and for lack of air do not bloom, or when a group is planted too thickly.

A garden isn't just flowers, the whole outdoors surrounding the home is in reality the garden. Parking, lawn, trees, shrubs by front door, mowing crab near the garage, the hedge, the pool—all these are a part of the garden just as much as the perennial border or the rose bed.

On gladioli, thrips and many good hiding places because of the leaf structure. Thus, sprays may not give perfect control. Thrips spend the winter on the bulbs, where they may be killed by fumigation. It is simplest to place the bulbs in paper bags containing naphthalene flakes, 4 table-spoonfuls to each 100 bulbs. Tobacco pyrethrum dusts, or certain liquid dips may be used.

When the clumps of Madonna lilies seem crowded they should be lifted shortly after the blooming season, separated, and replanted immediately.

Both sprays and dusts have their disadvantages, but dusting is ordinarily simpler and less expensive. Even a baking powder cut with dusts punches in the top, or a cloth bag, may be used for dusting. Dusts are always ready for use; you don't have to mix them. One of the drawbacks of dust is that it cannot be used on windy days.

One woman when planting tulips in the fall selected the shorter varieties and filled her window boxes. The results were most pleasing both from inside and outside the house. The tulips finished blooming in plenty of time to fill the boxes with other plants for later bloom.

Certain scents are repugnant to some animals even when so faint as to be hardly noticeable to man. This principle has been used in preparing a number of sprays to keep dogs away from trees, evergreens, or shrubs. A nicotine spray made at ordinary strength without a soap spreader may be used. One device is a tube of substance hung in the bush or evergreen to be protected.

Hay fever sufferers may soon be going around in the season, wearing gas masks or devices that look like a mask and serve a similar purpose. A mask has been invented by a Cincinnati doctor, to screen out irritating pollen or dust, based on the dust guard used in various industries. It has an electrically charged screen along with the dust-guard paper, and the inventor claims to capture 99 1/2 per cent of the pollen.

Will Feature Fruits for Roadside Stand

Geneva, N. Y., Aug. 6.—The best varieties of fruit for different seasons and for use for dessert or for canning will be assembled from the large collection growing in the orchards and vineyards of the Experiment Station here and arranged attractively on a regulation roadside stand to be erected in the station exhibit at the State Fair at Syracuse in September as a demonstration both for the consumer as to what to look for in buying fruit at the roadside and for the fruit grower as to what varieties to plant to cater to consumer tastes.

In addition, the station fruit specialists will have a large display of new fruit varieties developed on the station grounds, together with promising new varieties from other sources which are showing up well in tests here. Vegetable varieties under observation at the station, including muskmelons, squashes, sweet corn hybrids, tomatoes, and other vegetables, will be shown along with exhibits depicting the important insect pests and diseases of fruits and vegetables and their control.

HYDRANGEAS ARE POPULAR SHRUBS TO RECALL BLOOM

BY THE MASTER GARDENER

Hydrangeas are a versatile family.

The two most common planted varieties are giving us a fine display of bloom now, or will do so soon. I refer to the Hills-of-Snow (Hydrangea arborescens grandiflora) and to Peegee (Hydrangea paniculata grandiflora). Many gardens feel the latter variety is overplanted, but I do not agree. I must admit that the blossoms are very showy, and not suitable in all locations, but the white flowers, which appear in August and then turn to pink and russet shades as they age, can be used to very good effect in formal hedges where a specimen plant is needed.

Both of these varieties produce bloom on the current season's wood and should never be pruned in the summer or fall. Any pruning should be done in the spring, and then the plants should be cut back severely.

Of course, the efficiency with which the early spring pruning was done has an important effect on the blooming quality, but the size and effectiveness of the flowers are determined largely by the amount of food available at this time. For hydrangeas, now with a complete balanced plant food and water in thoroughly.

And while on the subject of hydrangeas, I want to tell you about two of this family of plants which are not listed in many catalogues but which are well worth having.

One is the Climbing Hydrangea (Hydrangea petiolaris), an attractive rampant-growing vine. It will cling to brick or stone buildings by its rootlets, and the flowers are quite fragrant. They appear about June.

The other is a very fine shrub, Oakleaf Hydrangea (Hydrangea quercifolia). The oak-shaped leaf makes it interesting, and its autumn coloring is superb. It succeeds in shade and is very desirable.

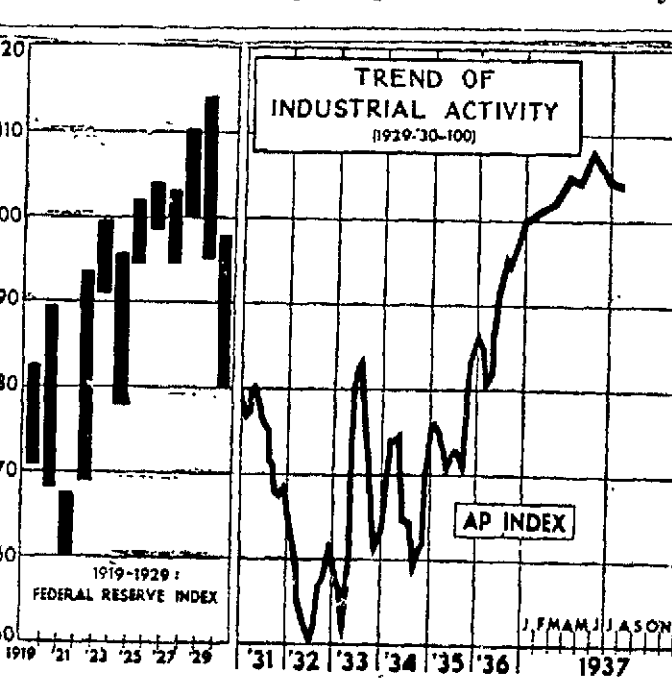

For Garden Plants.

The vegetable garden planted with such high hopes earlier in the summer may fall prey to cabbage worms at this season of the year if one is not vigilant. If cabbage worms appear on the leaves of cabbage, cauliflower and similar plants, dust with a mixture made of one part arsenite of lead, now with a complete balanced plant food and water in thoroughly.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY

Index Lower In July Despite Steel's Recovery

New York, (AP).—Industrial activity, measured by The Associated Press index, dropped slightly in July from the previous month. The index slipped to 104.5 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 104.9 in June, and compared with 93.8 in the corresponding period of a year ago.

Steel mill operations recovered somewhat from the strikeborn slump of the preceding period. Automobile production hit a new peak for the year, then fell off. Residential building continued to decline, touching a new low for the year at the close of the month.

SHOKAN

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sahlbeck of the north boulevard are enjoying a motor trip of one week to the Thousand Islands. The trip includes a visit to Mr. Sahlbeck's cousin, Charles Green of Ohio, who has a summer residence on the Isle Noyse.

Mrs. A. Van Praag returned to New York city Tuesday after a sojourn of several weeks at the Longyear House.

Local streams are at a very low stage and the supply in wells and springs has dropped considerably. The shower which deluged Kingston Monday, passed over this section, leaving only a light sprinkle here.

August 5, 1896, plans for the establishment of a creamery received an added impetus with the meeting of a creamery committee to select a site for the building. The place decided upon was along the east side of the Bakeman brook, near Zadoc P. Boice's sawmill, and one month later a lot was purchased of Mr. Boice. N. S. Stevens of Canaan, Conn., operated the creamery for several years and also conducted a successful retail ice cream business at the plant.

Herbert Cruthers and family of Ridgefield Park, N. J., are spending their annual vacation at the Cruthers summer home opposite the Shokan school house.

Among the Krumville people attending the funeral of the Rev. Thomas Blathwaite Wednesday afternoon were the Simon Merrihew, John Barringer and Charles Merrihew families.

Patsy Toman, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Toman, had the misfortune to fall and cut her leg quite badly Wednesday.

Herbert Rose and family of Olive Bridge were callers in the village Monday.

Frank Blundage of Arlington N. J., is spending a few days with relatives in the heights section of Shokan.

At the F. Doyle camp over the week-end were the following: Brookhites, Kenneth Olson, Howard and William Sorenson, Frank Doyle, Larry Brandt and Thomas Dutelle.

Mrs. Auer Longyear and Miss Edna Longyear served Sunday dinner to 22 persons and their boarding house was filled to capacity during the week-end. The guests included Miss Eleanor Hughes, Miss Fannie Brush and Miss Laura Hennigan of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Walter, A. J. Didier and Miss Ruth Didier of Flushing, Robert Kirmse and son Robert, Jr., New York, also Mrs. F. Rev. and sons, Eugene and Charles who on Sunday concluded a visit of two weeks here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olsen had their Sunday dinner guests at the Olsen lodge, Rowan Caid and Captain Ben Semmons, both of Brooklyn.

The recent substantial drop in the price of grains came as a welcome surprise to local poultrymen. Eggs are in lively demand at 30-35 cents a dozen but many hens, unfortunately, are staging what might be termed a "stand up" strike at this time. Very few eggs are shipped out of Shokan during the summer months, the available supply being taken care of by our boarding house keepers and summer residents.

James Rutherford, while mowing hay on the Thankful Elmendorf farm Wednesday, saw two large buck deer in the big meadow near the east branch of the Butterkill. Another farmer last week saw a fine doe, eating placidly of the tender grass stubble where he had moved by hand under an old apple tree a few yards from the farm house.

Three big Greyhound busses passed through Shokan earlier in the week. Vacation camp busses loaded with boys and girls frequently stop here for refreshments while touring the reservoir. The popularity of the Ashokan with sightseers appears not to diminish with the passing years.

United States forest rangers have discarded their traditional Stetsons for a more civilian type of hat.

Baby Born After Death of Mother

Baby Born After Mother Was Dead

Philadelphia, August 6 (AP)—Doctors stood beside an incubator and oxygen tank today, fighting to save the life of a three and one-half pound girl delivered in an operation performed one minute after her mother died.

Their first problem was to reduce the baby's temperature from 109 degrees.

That was the temperature of the mother, Mrs. Mary Bocassini, 27, at the time of her death from tuberculous meningitis shortly after midnight in the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Five minutes before the mother's death, a nurse, stationed at the door of her room, summoned two doctors who were waiting in an adjoining room for the woman to die.

Hope for her recovery had been abandoned.

For a few minutes they stood at the bedside while nurses brought into the room instruments that had been sterilized in advance for the operation.

One minute after Mrs. Bocassini had been pronounced dead the baby was delivered.

The operation was performed in the room to save the life of the mother. In removing the body to an operating room, speed was imperative. Doctors said the baby would have lived only a few minutes.

The tiny girl was placed at once in an incubator beside the bed in which her mother had died.

Doctors said there was little chance that the disease which took the mother's life had been transmitted to the tiny girl.

BIRTH CONTROL CENTERS RAIDED

Police swooped down on Boston birth control centers including state headquarters, seized literature and other material and closed them. Shown after the raid is Mrs. Leslie Hawkrig (center), president of the Birth Control League of Massachusetts, talking with Lieut. Bernard Graham of the Boston police. Later, Mrs. Hawkrig announced that the Birth Control League had decided to recommend to local committees the closing of clinics in Massachusetts because of the raids.

TILLSON

Tillson, Aug. 5—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society will be held Thursday afternoon, August 12, at Sturgeon's pool near Rifton. Miss Ada Craig and Mrs. Charles T. Craig will be hostesses. Members will meet at the church at 2 o'clock where cars will be ready to take them to the place of meeting.

The annual fair of the Ladies Aid Society will be held Saturday, August 14, afternoon and evening, in the church hall if stormy, but on the grounds outside if weather is pleasant. Articles for the fancy table are to be sent to Mrs. Herman Osmer or Mrs. Arthur Deyo. Contributions from members and friends of the church will be greatly appreciated. There will be soft drinks, watermelon and ice cream for sale and a cafeteria supper during the afternoon and evening will be served.

Mrs. Kenneth Clark entertained Mrs. Simon Prindle of Kingston, Tuesday at dinner.

Miss Kate Dupuy spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Terwilliger. Miss Sadie Schutt of Kingston spent Thursday night and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Emerick before leaving for Loon Lake in the Adirondacks where she will spend a week. Other callers at their home last week were Mr. and Mrs. George Swart and son, George, and Mrs. Richard Emerick and children, Betty and Richard of Kingston, Mrs. Anna C. Emerick and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Emerick and children, Joan and Robert, of Ardsley, and the Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Jamison of Durham.

Mrs. Bush of Port Owen was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Willis Keator, over the week-end. Mrs. Kate Burr of Yonkers, a former resident of Tillson, came Saturday to visit at the home of Mrs. William Dey and other friends here.

Mrs. Ralph Dewey is steadily improving in health. She has abandoned the wheel chair for the arm chair as she is now able to walk about.

Tillson has been further improved in appearance by the removal of the old barn on the former property of Davis Merrihew. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Taylor will offer serious competition to the other exhibitors in the coming flower show at Rosendale. Mrs. Taylor served at the "miscellaneous table" at the Kerness in Stone Ridge.

The Rev. and Mrs. I. P. Emerick attended the fair of the Rosendale Reformed Church Thursday afternoon, also the fair of the Cottekill Reformed Church the same afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Keator were at the Cottekill fair also.

The premises of Mrs. Walken and Osmer present a very attractive appearance since the house and all the buildings have been newly painted. The work was done by Kuhn of Rosendale.

The Hoffman family of New York is spending a vacation of two weeks in town. They are very busy building a one-room bungalow on their property.

Miss Helene Ehrich of Baldwin, L. I., is spending two weeks with the Osmer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Steneck, Mr. and Mrs. P. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. R. Becker, Tum Suden, E. Rieke, H. Rieke and H. Bohn, delegates of the Brooklyn Grocers' Association, stopped at Mrs. Osmer and Mrs. Walken's Sunday for dinner before going to Kingston where the state convention is being held in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Osmer and Miss Helene Ehrich will attend the banquet of the grocers on Wednesday at the auditorium in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Broom and son with Mr. and Mrs. C. Blatz of Brooklyn were week-end guests of the Rosway family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Travis of Saugerties called on Mrs. Ralph Dewey Sunday afternoon.

Willis Keator in company of the Rev. and Mrs. I. P. Emerick attended church at High Falls Sunday morning. Mr. Emerick by invitation of the pastor, offered the pastoral prayer.

H. Glotstein stopped at his sister's, Mrs. K. Walken's, for dinner Sunday.

Miss Elsie Albert has returned to New York after a two weeks' vacation in Tillson.

Miss Betty Van Soosten of the Nurses' Training School of Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn, came home Sunday for vacation of the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Craig and Abel Christiana and son, Frank, spent the week-end with relatives.

Mrs. Eugene Nichols of Ilion is spending her vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, her daughter and grandson of Cornwall called on Mrs. Jennie Krom Sunday afternoon. Her niece and Mr. and Mrs. Besmer of West Hurley were to see her Saturday.

Recent callers on Mrs. Silas Terwilliger were Mr. and Mrs. Will Green of Shokan last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ackert of Delhi on Sunday, Jane Merrihew of Kingston on Monday and Mrs. Earl Terwilliger and mother on Tuesday.

Shirley Krom is spending a week with her aunt in Walden.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dewey and daughter, Dorothy, of New York city called on relatives here Sunday.

The annual reunion of the Davis family is to be held in Tillson this year on Saturday, August 7, in the Reformed Church hall.

D. L. Christiana spent the week-end with his mother at Stuyvesant.

Well-fed pigs are not so likely to become infected with internal parasites during the suckling period as those which are underfed, according to scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Many dramatic schools in New York are not advertised as such. In fact, they may be in an entirely different line of business. Yet they serve the same purpose. Edwin MacDonald is an instance of how that comes about. He can imitate six distinct Italian types with proper nuances and accent for each. He has accomplished that through frequent visits to Little Italy. There he gets pointers from an elderly Neapolitan fruit peddler, a well-read and polished old dealer from Viareggio, and a seventy-year-old wine taster from Genoa. Charles Martin, who often is on the same program with MacDonald, spends much of his spare time associating with gangsters of various types. As a result, he can vocally portray 14 different types. Fortunately, he holds, none of those whom he simulates has yet recognized himself as a teacher.

When Minerva Pious is cast in a Chinese role, she merely makes frequent and long visits to her laundryman. When Agnes Moorehead is to enact a French ingenue part, she goes to a little French dressmaking shop and chats about various matters, meanwhile keeping her eyes and ears wide open. Orson Wells, Charles Cantor, Anne Elstner and numerous others get their coaching from those unaware that they are giving it. New York, with its polyglot population and many quaint neighborhoods, offers full opportunity for such study. Another advantage is that more often than not it is fun instead of work.

That the public is becoming more and more string-music conscious is the belief of Vincent Lopez. The piano-playing leader is a constant attendant of the opera and symphony concerts and thus gets his knowledge first hand. And so sure is he of it that he has adopted a new style for his band.

"During the past season," said Lopez, "audiences seemed most enthusiastic when string music was being played. They just couldn't seem to get enough of it. To my mind this is a sure sign we are headed for a golden era of rich, tuneful and graceful music, music with a soul."

"Returning prosperity is being reflected in musical demands. With people's pocketbooks no longer empty and life not so harsh, there's a definite trend toward more pleasant and more balanced music."

Rambling right along from music to perambulators, it seems that baby carriages are now the only vehicles free to travel the streets of New York without coming into collision with the law, no matter how many shins they may bump. No horns, lights, brake tests or licenses are required for them. The ordinance says there must be lights on cart, tricycle, sled, kiddie car, scooter, go-cart, or other vehicle of any size or sort, but it doesn't mention baby buggies. That information came out in traffic court during a hearing of an eighteen-year-old lad charged with riding a bicycle recklessly. He had collided with another bicycle on the Williamsburg bridge and that cost him $2.

Baby buggies and babies—there's continuity. It seems that the Graham family in Yorkville had fixed it up that when the stork was about to arrive, the father-to-be or some other member of the family would rush out and pull the handle of the police signal box. Then an ambulance would come. Instead of the father, the aunt-to-be was on hand. She rushed out and pulled a lever. But she chose a red box instead of a green one and instead of an ambulance, there was a lot of fire apparatus. Only one policeman came. He took the expectant aunt to court on the charge of turning in a false fire alarm. She was in tears when she appeared before the judge. But after listening to the evidence, he forgave her and turned her loose. Meanwhile the baby had been born in Metropolitan hospital.

True Story: Jascha Heifetz recently took up a residence of the suburbs. Naturally many friends of the famous violinist make it a point to drop in for a chat.

"Tell me, Jascha," asked one city dweller, "what have you missed most since you moved to the country?"

"Trains," replied Heifetz.

Fish React to Music

London.—Minnows can distinguish between musical notes, according to Prof. K. Von Frisch, of Munich university. He believes he has solved the problem, long debated between anglers and biologists, of whether fish can hear.

Moon Over Honolulu Gives Cupid a Hand

Honolulu.—The Hawaiian moon over Waikiki beach is given part credit for the fact that Honolulu has a higher marriage rate per thousand of population than other parts of the United States. The latest statistics show Honolulu leading with an 11.80 rate, as compared with about 10 elsewhere.

RABAU CLEAN UP AFTER EARTHQUAKE

Capital of New Britain in Zone Used to Shakes.

Washington, D. C.—Residents of Rabaul, New Britain Island, in the southwestern Pacific, which was badly damaged by an earthquake, now are returning to their homes and resuming normal trade. The 5,000 inhabitants, of which 4,000 are natives, and the remainder whites, Chinese and Japanese, will be employed for days repairing buildings and clearing debris from the streets.

"Rabaul, the largest town and capital of New Britain, is situated at the western end of the crescent-shaped island, and is in a zone accustomed to earthquakes, showers of volcanic ash and devastating waves," says the National Geographic society. "But, unless the shocks and eruptions are extremely severe, the natives merely shrug their shoulders and go about their usual tasks undisturbed."

Casualty Heavy Damage.

"The recent quake was so severe that residents fled to higher ground inland. Many buildings were demolished or their foundations were made unsafe by the quivering earth. Three thousand tons of pumice, blown by frequent explosions from the crater of a nearby volcano, covered some portions of the town a foot deep. And then came a great wave of sea water from the harbor whose bed had been raised by the seismic disturbance. Lack of water in the harbor temporarily left large cargo boats careened on mud banks, and an island, formerly low, rose to 60 feet above the water."

"Such disasters are not new to Rabaul. Old residents recall that their town was somewhat similarly stricken in February, 1878, when an earthquake of major proportions shook it like a leaf in the breeze, a new island rose in the harbor, and a great wave swept inland."

"New Britain, which is the largest of the islands in the Bismarck Archipelago, lies about 50 miles off the northeast coast of New Guinea and like many of its neighbors in the southwestern Pacific, is of volcanic origin. Throughout its 370 miles of length, a high mountain range, with peaks rising to more than 7,000 feet, forms a lofty backbone."

Cannibalism Once Rampant.

"The island is only a short distance below the equator and lush tropical vegetation blankets the mountains and valleys; but trade winds so temper the atmosphere for many months of the year that the climate is not oppressive. Seldom does the thermometer touch one hundred degrees."

"While the greater portion of the island has been explored, civilization, for the most part, has penetrated only a narrow coastal zone. The natives are Papuans who wear little more than a loin cloth and metal arm bands. Most of them are employed in gathering coconuts and coconuts."

"Before white men established themselves at Rabaul and other towns on New Britain, the natives were cannibals, infamous among the early mariners for their treachery and cunning. Tribes were constantly attempting to annihilate one another. Even now there is some danger in traveling through villages of isolated tribes, although missionaries and agents of Australia, of which the island is a mandated territory, have made great strides in wiping out cannibalism. The unexplored part of the island where cannibalism may linger is in the central part of New Britain; both ends of the island long have been labeled 'Race of the Cheyenne Maidens.'"

Only One Woman in U. S. Is Studying Old Tibetan

Cambridge, Mass.—An absolute individualist among 60,000,000 American women is Miss Frances Hodnet, twenty-seven years old, Radcliffe graduate student from Denver, believed to be the only woman in the country studying ancient Tibetan languages.

Guided by Prof. Walter E. Clark, of Harvard, she learned to read Sanskrit, became fascinated by India's early Buddhist literature, then turned to Tibetan because complete texts of now-extinct Buddhist writings have been preserved in Tibetan monasteries.

Badges of Grief

In our own country, as in Europe, the ordinary code for mourning is black; in China, as with the ancient Spartan and Roman ladies, it is white; in Turkey, it is blue or violet; in Egypt, yellow; in Ethiopia, gray. Some have attempted to trace the associations which caused the adoption of the various colors to natural causes. Thus black, which is the privation of light, is supposed very appropriately to denote the privation of life; white is an emblem of purity; yellow is the color of leaves when they fall, and represents that death is the end of all human hopes and so on. In the East, to cut the hair was considered a sign of mourning; among the Romans, on the contrary, it was deemed a mark of sorrow to let it grow.

Remarkable Swiss Canyon

The Tamina gorge near Ragaz Spa is one of the outstanding examples of erosion in the Swiss Alps and at the same time more or less mysterious, since the hot spring which has brought fame to the resort flows from its depths. The waters pour from a crevice in the rocks at the rate of 3,000,000 quarts per minute, at a temperature of 83.5 degrees Fahrenheit. No change whatsoever has been noticed in all the centuries during which the spa has been visited.

"KIDNAPED" BOY ENTERS ORPHANAGE

Donald Horst (left), who is claimed by two couples, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst and John Regan and his common-law wife, Lydia Nelson, is shown trying to make friends in St. Vincent's Orphanage in Chicago, where he was placed by the court until the mix-up was settled. Miss Nelson bore Donald. Mrs. Horst has mothered him since his birth.

Len Carney, And Betty Harrison Stars at Williams

Len Carney, former Metropolitan A. A. U. diving champion, who is now training at Williams Lake in the town of Rosendale, will be seen in an exhibition Sunday along with Betty Harrison, pretty diver of the Women's Swimming Association, New York city.

Len has been to this Ulster county resort many times before and will be remembered for the fine performance which he gave last Sunday along with Bud Clappitt, Jr., national champion from St. Petersburg, Florida. Carney has chosen Williams Lake this year as his training ground for the coming metropolitan and National A. A. U. championships. He may be seen any afternoon practicing and conducting a diving class for the kiddies.

Betty Harrison, who is Junior Metropolitan A. A. U. champion, appeared at Williams Lake once before. This petite diver, who is a teammate of Eleanor Polm, Elsie Pehl, "Corky" Gillisen and other outstanding swimmers and divers, can always be counted on for a fine diving performance, and when teamed with Len Carney, the audience is bound to be thrilled.

Len will also give another exhibition the following Sunday. At this show he will probably be teamed up once more with Bud Clappitt.

Closis Will Play At Wittenberg

Sunday the Closi A. C. of Kingston will play at Wittenberg, competing against the Sportsmen's Club of that community.

Manager Angelo Closi told a reporter, "We will try to get out of the soft sand we struck last Sunday when we played the Huron Indians. I think we can take those Wittenberg boys over."

Last week against Freddie Baumgarten's Redskins, the Closis fopped when Leo Komosa, their ace pitcher, folded up on account of a bad arm.

At Wittenberg Closi will use either Earl Sleight or Pete Sczyepa on the mound with Vince Stoll behind the plate.

Stay Away From Door Urges DuBois

"Father Divine stay away from my door that is all I ask," said Frank DuBois, a colored man residing at 240 Hurley avenue, as he called at police headquarters this morning to complain of the visits of the Divine Angels to his door.

He said that they made many visits to his home trying to induce him and his wife and family to attend the Divine meetings.

Mr. DuBois said that he did not believe in Father Divine and his program, but considered him a fake. "All I want," said Mr. DuBois, "is for them to stop bothering me and my family."

The lightning rod was invented by Benjamin Franklin.

Wants Reservations.

Chairman Edward Kots, of the Weiner Hose Company clambake committee, today stressed the necessity for members to make reservations by Sunday, August 8, if they desire to attend the bake, the date of which is Sunday, August 15. "We want to have sufficient supplies for the bake, so there will be plenty to eat and drink," he said, "and must depend on word from our members in order to make proper plans." The bake will be held at Walton's Grove.

Mike—Not at all. It means that I will change doctors.

Business is like a wheelbarrow—it stands still unless someone pushes it.

The club bore was relating one of his long-winded stories that everybody knew by heart. He was describing what happened to him when he went on a trip to the Grand Canyon in Arizona.
"The soft curtain of night was just falling," he orated. "There I stood, drinking in the scene, with the giant abyss yawning before me."
"I say, old chap," interrupted one of the listeners at this point, "was that abyss yawning before you got there?"

Prisoner—I'm a burglar.
Read it or not:
W. E. Allred, Livingston, Tenn., owns a living three-legged sheep. Three days after birth this freak lamb could stand up, now it can run on three legs even though it is minus a shoulder blade.

This one is from Pathfinder:
Doctor—That lady who just left this office is the only woman I ever really loved.
Nurse—She's beautiful. Why don't you marry her, Doc?
Doctor—I would like to, but I really can't afford to. She's my best patient, you know.

Temperance in all things is a remarkably good conduct target to shoot at, even if one falls by the wayside occasionally.

Hubby—Mary, we've lived together for 50 years, and I haven't deceived you once, have I?
Mary—No, Henry, but you've tried hard enough.

Camp Fire Gloom!
There's something in a camp fire's cheery gleam
That opens wide the windows of your soul;
It sees each plan—each little far-fung dream,
It lights the candles that lead to your goal.
You gain new faith in all your fellow men,
There where the feet of old Dame Nature tread;
Within the camp fire's magic glow, my friend,
Your heart will tell you that you're close to God.
—J. Gaskill McDaniel.

Last year's straw hats look—well, quite a bit like last year's straw hats.

The chemist was explaining to the lady the progress of his experiments:
Lady (commenting)—My, the manufacture of synthetic rubber is such a slow process, isn't it?
Chemist—Well, we have to make it slow to make it snappy.

"I suddenly hopes I see sick," groaned Rastus. "I'd sho hate to feel lak dis when I see well."

What a monotonous old world this would be were it not for the delusions therein.

WRONG NUMBER: Phoney Operator Shows How It's Done

1.—What should an operator do when a right number seems inevitable? Let Helen Troy, the movies' foremost operator, give the answers. Making up for the job, Helen says, helps a lot.

2.—If that fails, day dreaming is next. Here Helen's completely stumped. The boy requested a number, but for the life of her Helen can't remember what it was.

3.—Up to her neck in work, Helen finds the man hour simply awful. Business is picking up fast—and so is Helen's interest in the boy friend who's just passed her by.

4.—Helen tends to her knitting and, in a manner of speaking, is all tangled up in her job. But she's triumphant—she hasn't given anyone a right number yet.

Large Force Busy As Lane Co. Push West Hurley Road

Construction work on the four-lane Kingston-West Hurley highway is being pushed steadily forward by the Lane Construction Co. of Meriden, Conn., who have three power-shovels, several graders, two gas rollers, and various trucks and tractors operating on the job. A gas shovel and two tractors and trailers are working on the cutting away of the bank just above the old toll-gate. This bank is a rocky ledge which has been blasted at various times. The prongs of the power-shovel are being driven into the cracks in the rocks and then large chunks of rock are torn out. In several instances, the shovel is momentarily lifted from its caterpillar treads when a section of rock refuses to budge. The debris taken from the bank is used for fill on the opposite side of the old road just above the bank, and when the hill cutting operation is finished, the curvature at that point will be considerably less.

Culverts are being placed all along the right of way and opposite the John Saxo property, an old two and a half story house which now stands directly in the path of the new alignment, is in the process of destruction.

New Electric Line.
Central Hudson crews are busily engaged in setting new electric poles along the right of way, as most of the original line either is too close to the widened road bed or at one time found itself directly in the center of the new alignment.

The hill above the automobile graveyard has been cut down and widened considerably and new fill completely covers the foundation of the old Lanes Hotel which stood at the foot of the Stony Hollow hill and was destroyed by fire some years past.

Just above the site of the old hotel, a steam shovel is cutting away the bank which originally necessitated the first turn in the old route. Two dump trucks are taking this dirt and stone from the shovel and dumping it in a new fill which further eliminates the original turn. A grader and this shifter is engaged in leveling this fill.

New Alignment.
The new four-lane concrete road will leave the old road directly behind the Jones place and will traverse the woods and stone quarries, keeping to the east of the railroad tracks, and following the old road again at West Hurley alongside of the railroad overpass. Trees have been cleared from this route but no actual digging has taken place as operations have been confined to the section at the end of the Kingston flats through to the foot of the Stony Hollow hill.

The new alignment will eliminate the hamlet of Stony Hollow and the dangerous turns and viaduct which has been a menace to traffic on this well-traveled route for many years. The long hill above Pine Crest Park, known as Fisher's Hill, which was always a "joker" for automobiles because of its length and curves, will also be a thing of the past when the new highway is completed.

RUBY ZIONCHECK SHOOTING AT "PROWLER" HITS BLIND
Hollywood, Aug. 6 (AP)—Ruby E. Zioncheck, widow of the late congressman from Washington, got her gun and took the situation into her own hands today after police sought in vain for a prowler she reported.

Mrs. Zioncheck called police and reported the presence of a prowler in the yard, but officers searched the grounds without result. Two hours later the police station received a call that there had been a shooting at the home of Miss Page Ayres, Mrs. Zioncheck's aunt with whom she is staying. The officers rushed back and dashed into the house. Gun in hand, Mrs. Zioncheck stood looking at a neat hole she made in a window blind when she shot at what she thought was the prowler. Another careful search by police failed to produce him.

Pyramids Used as Tombs; Had Chambers for Gifts

The ancient historians never bothered to explain the fact that the pyramids were tombs, although they described the structures carefully, because it was a matter of common knowledge to their readers. The evolution of the pyramids from the mastaba or "bench" pyramids to the great structure of Cheops proves, without doubt, the use for tombs, according to a noted German archeologist, says the Washington Star. Because the Egyptians did not think life ended with death, they provided food and other essentials for continued existence and carefully protected the body from destruction by flood, scavengers and other threats. Their religion also demanded that the survivors meet on certain days to offer gifts to the dead.

The tombs, he says, first were pits, into which the dead were laid. Larger pits had a chamber for the dead and a smaller chamber for gifts. Mounds were built upon the grave, with a shallow niche, always on the east side. In front of the niche was a shallow court which served as a place for worship. A large sepulchre of bricks, found in the neighborhood of Nagada, Upper Egypt, and attributed to King Menes, is the first known in which the burial room as well as the chambers for the gifts are built into the structure above the ground. The first unquestionably royal tombs belong to the successors of Menes, of about the period 3200 B. C.

Hail-Rod Just Special Form of Lightning Rod

The hail-rod, known in French as a paraigrole, is merely a special form of lightning rod, and was introduced at a period when the production of the electrical rather than the mechanical action of the storm. Even so great an authority as Arago thought that rods attached to balloons might draw off enough electricity from the clouds to prevent hail from forming.

The original hail-rod, according to a writer in the Indianapolis News, was a wooden pole with a metal tip, which was connected with the ground by a cord or wire. It is said that a million or more of these rods were erected in various parts of Europe during the first quarter of the Nineteenth century. For a while they were completely abandoned, but in 1890 a much more pretentious device of the same character was introduced in France and soon gained great popularity in that country. This was a large copper rod, grounded by means of a copper conductor, and installed at as high a level as possible: in some cases on church steeples or other tall edifices, and in other cases on great steel towers erected for the purpose. Vehement discussions in regard to its merits prevailed in France down to the outbreak of the World war, but little is heard about it.

First Steamboat Down Mississippi
Nicholas J. Roosevelt was the first to take a steamboat down the Mississippi river, according to a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. His boat was built at Pittsburgh in the year 1811, under an arrangement with Fulton and Livingston, from Fulton's plans. It was called the New Orleans, and was about 200 tons burden, propelled by a stern-wheel, assisted when the wind was favorable, by sails carried on two masts. The hull was 138 feet long, 30 feet beam, and the cost, including engines, was about $40,000. The builder, with his family, an engineer, a pilot and six deck hands left Pittsburgh in October, 1811, reaching Louisville in about 70 hours, and New Orleans in fourteen days, steaming from Natchez.

Police Report Check Artists

At police headquarters today it was stated that a bad check artist was busy in the city using checks purporting to be of the Royal Typewriter Company and signed "J. S. Bell." The checks are drawn in the amount of $15.13 on thereabouts. So far the local merchants have reported to the police that they had received bad checks.

FOUND WITH BULLET WOUND IN HIS HEAD

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—Sheriff Dwight Sedgwick said today that Harold L. Hogeboom, 46, had been found last night with a bullet wound in his head and a .32 calibre revolver lying beside him on the seat of his automobile.

The car was parked in a lane near Hodgeboom's parents' home at Hyde Park, Sedgwick said. Hogeboom was taken to Vassar Hospital, where his condition was said to be critical.

Sheriff Sedgwick said Hogeboom had been separated for six years from his wife and two children, who were believed to be living in New Haven, Conn.

United to Halt Picketing
San Francisco, Aug. 6 (AP)—All 32 salesmen of an automobile distributor here joined today in a precedent-setting court action seeking to halt a union which they charged picked to force them into membership. The salesmen contend the picketing is illegal because they have no dispute with their employer and because there is no law requiring them to join any union against their wishes.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—With the exception of mining and specialty issues, stocks displayed a notable lack of buying power in today's market.

Steels and motors were unable to get going and trading forces adopted a warier attitude toward most leaders. Utilities and rails were under water the greater part of the time. Trends were indelible near the final hour. Transfers were around 750,000 shares.

The metal group apparently derived its inspiration from another slight mark-up in export copper, a jump in steel scrap at Pittsburgh and an advance in the price of zinc following yesterday's hoist in the quotation for lead. There was also talk of a nearby lift in the domestic copper rate, but some producers thought this premature.

Bonds generally failed to get off on the right foot and commodities were uneven. Wheat futures dipped. Foreign currencies were narrow. Hogs at Chicago reached a new high since October, 1926.

Getting up fractions to a point or so were Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, St. Joseph lead, American Metal, American Zinc, American Telephone, Macy, National Supply, American Woolen, Canadian Radiator, Hercules Motors, Mack Truck, Continental Motors, Radio and Sears Roebuck.

Holding to a relatively slim groove were Bethlehem, Republic, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Woolworth, Butte Copper, Inspiration Copper, Pure Oil, Tidewater Oil, General Electric, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Celanese.

Livelihoods of Radio was coincident with rumors the company might consider a small dividend before the end of the year.

Expect Renewed Foreign Buying Of U.S. Securities

Renewed foreign buying of American securities is expected as a result of the statement that the Congressional tax loophole committee has decided to postpone drastic action with respect to foreign investments here. Fear of such action is said to have been largely responsible for the liquidation of such holdings in this market during the past few months.

Despite the fact that the five cents an hour increase in wages granted by the railroads, which will probably add about $45,000,000 to operating costs during the balance of the year the roads are expected to show net income for the next five months equal at least to the same period in 1936. The new retirement act will probably save the roads about $20,000,000 during the rest of the year. However, the roads still have to settle wage negotiations with the operating unions.

Stocks eased off yesterday. On the Dow-Jones average industrials showed a drop of 0.71 point; rails lost 0.25 point and utilities declined 0.32. Wheat was firmer, with buying by mills and export interests and report of drought conditions in the Southern Hemisphere. Cotton advanced as much as 14 points as there was renewed agitation for Congressional action for crop loans. September corn sold at $1, up three cents at Chicago.

Heavy steel scrap went to $22 a ton at Pittsburgh. Pullman Standard Car has an order for 500 box cars from the Sorocabana Railways of Brazil. Lehigh Valley Railroad had net loss in June of $304,173, compared with net income of $308,872 year ago.

Engineering construction awards for the past week were $44,041,000 compared with $53,253,000 year ago. There was a gain in private awards over the same period last year.

With business running 30 to 40 per cent ahead of a year ago Celotex net profit for nine months ended July 31 is expected to be around $1,000,000, almost 150 per cent above 1935 figure. The new Fall-Winter catalogue of Sears Roebuck, largest since 1919, shows an average raise in prices of five per cent over a year ago.

Mohawk Carpet Mills declared a 30-cent extra dividend and regular quarterly of 30 cents. Woolworth reports July sales up 8.2 per cent from year ago. W. T. Grant up 8.9 per cent. Sun Ray Drug up 16.4 per cent. McLellan Stores up 6.7 per cent.

Allis-Chalmers plans to issue $25,000,000 convertible debentures for expansion and additional working capital. New York City Federal Reserve banks report business loans up $5,000,000 for week ended August 4; brokers loans increased $34,000,000 and total loans and investments increased $34,000,000. Electric Power & Light reports net earnings for second quarter of 1937 of 22 cents a common share compared with seven cents on second quarter of 1936 quarter.

Currys-Whitney, one cent on common vs. 47 cents on Class A shares year ago. Stone & Webster 10 cents vs. seven cents. Pullman, Inc., 87 cents vs. 39 cents. J. C. Penney $2.82 vs. $2.71. American Steel Foundries $1.87 vs. 82 cents (on shares outstanding). American Locomotive $1.11 vs. $1.80. American Home Products $2.09 vs. $1.80.

Nearly 25,000 Plymouth Workers were in idleness for the second day as Chrysler officials and U. A. W. representatives remained deadlocked last night in an attempt to straighten out an inter-union dispute.

Dispute between CIO and A. F. of L. threatens to hamper work on government's $64,000,000 Grand Coulee Dam.

Investigation Continues

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Investigation of the oven explosion which wrecked the World Bestos Brake Linings manufacturing plant continued today as a second workman died of injuries. Internal injuries, caused by the death this morning of Eugene Braun, 72, killed in the blast yesterday was John Lougherty, 45. Nine of the two were injured, remained in the hospital, with one, George Walsley, still in critical condition.

Johnny Vaughan
At Williams Lake

John W. Vaughan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Vaughan of Rosendale, returned home yesterday after finishing two years military service of the U. S. Army in Honolulu, Hawaii.
Since July of 1935, when Vaughan left Rosendale, he attained the rank of first class private and sixth class specialist and was a battery mechanic in his division. He will continue his studies in a diesel engineering school.
While in Hawaii, Vaughan attained honors on his swimming team. For two years he swam on the championship of Hawaii swimming team, Fort Kaneohe, Hawaii. He held the island championship for the 50 and 100 yard freestyle swims. On his return home yesterday he joined the Williams Lake Swimming Club.

JURY SELECTION BEGUN TO TRY DYER FOR MURDER

Los Angeles, Aug. 6 (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Albert Dyer on charges of murdering three young Inglewood girls began today.
District Attorney Byron Fitts predicted: "Albert Dyer will be found guilty of murder in the first degree, and he will hang."
Dyer, employed to help children cross a street at Centinela Park, is accused of luring Melba Everett, 9, her sister, Madeline, 7, and Jeanette Stephens, 8, into nearby hills on the pretext they would hunt rabbits.
He is charged with strangling them to death and then ravishing their bodies.

Gospel Tent Services

Meetings continue indefinitely each night at 8 o'clock and Sunday at 7:30 in the Gospel Tent pitched on the corner of Franklin and Pine streets. The same gospel as preached by D. L. Moody, C. H. Spurgeon, J. Edwards, and others is being presented together with prophetic truth from a large chart 12 feet by six feet. The meetings are undenominational and all are heartily invited. No collections.

New York Oil Men Smile

Bolivar, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—Oil men in New York state's only petroleum field smiled with satisfaction today as they watched workmen sink drills in 53 new locations, a post-depression record. A current market reading of $2.82 a barrel puts crude oil at its highest price since 1929, they said.

Cotton Is a Villain
to South Florida

Miami.—Cotton may be king in most parts of the South but in Southern Florida its standing is that of a public enemy, according to L. F. Curl, head of the federal bureau of entomology here.
Cotton is not grown commercially in tropical South Florida and it is in the wild state that since 1932 entomologists have been hunting it out—seeking to eradicate it because it is host plant to the pink bollworm, the insect that has replaced the boll-weevil as foremost enemy of domestic cotton.

Mrs. Oats, Miller
Await Grand Jury

The corporal stated, Trooper Reilly also testified that he found neither knife or gun in Ferro's clothing as he lay on the ground near the Oats driveway, where he was found by the troopers when they arrived at the scene.
Corporal Mahoney said that Miller told him that neither he nor Mrs. Oats made any attempt to go near Ferro following the shooting. That he saw Ferro go off the porch into the yard and that he was lying on the lawn.
Judge Traver denied a motion by defendants attorney to dismiss the information upon which they were held on the grounds that they were founded on allegations made by Miller and Mrs. Oats and that the troopers had testified solely on information and belief and that there was no corroboration of the alleged statements or confessions referred to. The judge then stated that he would hold the defendants for the grand jury and would determine the question of bail following definite information as to the condition of Charles Ferro. Since their arrest the defendants have been held in bail of $5,000 each.

Ulster Sheriff
Takes Precautions

Sheriff Molyneux and about a dozen deputy sheriffs motored to Ellenville this morning. The sheriff stated that there was no trouble in that section but he had decided to visit the boarding house section in that vicinity as a precautionary measure. There was some excitement early this week at one of the boarding houses when a young woman was distributing union literature. It is expected that the deputy sheriffs will remain on duty in the vicinity of Ellenville over the week-end to assure that there is no trouble of any kind.

Circus Animals Sulky
When Denied Dainties

Circus animals all have their peculiar likes and dislikes, and their keepers must know these to keep them in good humor. The tigers and lions, for instance, are just as fond of catnip as the tabby is, and they're like sulky children if they don't get any, notes a writer in the Washington Star.

The elephant is fond of coal. It's just like rock candy to him. In fact, he must have a certain amount of dirt every day or he doesn't feel well. Elephants frequently suffer from colic, but that's because of the peanuts people feed them.

Another odd thing about the elephant, which maybe you never noticed, is that his hind legs bend backward instead of forward. And that funny little tail—it isn't such an insignificant thing as it seems, for it has so much strength in it that an elephant can knock a man over with one blow of that little rope-like tail.

One more thing about the circus animals that most people don't know—why the trick horses that the bareback riders use are white. Maybe you thought it was just for looks, but it isn't. The performer likes to put powdered rosin on the horse's back, as this keeps him from slipping when he's standing up on his steed. And the rosin doesn't show up on a white horse.

"Father of History"

Herodotus, called the "Father of History," was born at Halicarnassus, a Dorian city of Asia Minor, B. C. 484. In his youth he became disgusted with the tyrannical rule of Lydians, and abandoned his home for the island of Samos, upon which he acquired the Ionic dialect, which he used in writing his history. After remaining there some time, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, he began his famous travels, visiting Greece, Asia Minor, Syria, Babylon and northern Africa. Returning to his old home he assisted in the expulsion of Lydians and the establishment of a new ruler. The latter, however, became nearly as tyrannical as the former, so that Herodotus again looked abroad for a home. Hearing that a colony was about to leave Athens for Italy, he joined it and settled, B. C. 443, at Thurii in that peninsula. At that place he lived the remainder of his life, writing the history which has been a lasting monument to his name. It is not known in what year he died; but it is supposed that he lived to be a very old man.

An Epitaph

The following beautiful and comforting inscription, appearing on the tombstone of Benjamin Franklin, was written by Franklin himself and indicates the spiritual stature of the man:

The body of Benjamin Franklin, Printer (like the cover of an old book, its contents torn out and stripped of its lettering and gilding), lies here, food for worms. Yet the work itself shall not be lost. For it will (as he believes) appear once more in a new and more beautiful edition, corrected and amended by the Author.

Farley Offered Job

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—The Buffalo Evening News said today Postmaster General James A. Farley had been invited to "head the sales organization or possibly become the executive head" of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Corporation. No official of the motor company, whose main office is here, could be reached for comment.

AMATEUR BALLOONIST
AWAITS APPROVAL

Batavia, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Chester Nephew, Batavia's schoolboy balloonist, tinkered with a riding harness today, hopeful the government will let him fly his home-made, hot-air balloon.

To date, Chester's sky-riding thrills have been vicarious and dramatic. On successive occasions, he sent up a dummy for flights that ended on a porch roof, a hospital lawn and finally wrapped around a chimney.

He said a Department of Commerce inspector nonetheless had notified him he would look over the hand-wrought equipment.

The balloon, sewn in spare time from materials earned at odd jobs or donated by neighbors, carried a dummy weighing as much as Chester up 1,000 feet.

The French must be a great people. Without responsible government, without order, money, credit or hope, and nothing much but liberty, they go on just about the same.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — One of Joan Crawford's closest friends is Kasha LeSueur. Closest to Simone Simon is a tall and pretty girl named Lee Frederick. Joan Blondell and Ruth Parris are inseparable, at the studio and socially. If you want to know anything about Carole Lombard, you go to Madalyn Fields, or "Fieldsie." Fieldsie will tell you if she thinks it is any of your business. And Dot Ponderel probably knows more about Marlene Dietrich than anybody in Hollywood, except Marlene.

Kasha and Lee and Ruth and Fieldsie and Dot — all of them prove you don't have to be famous to be counted a friend of the famous. Kasha is Joan Crawford's stand-in, and her ex-sister-in-law. When Kasha's marriage to Joan's brother Hal crashed, Kasha's friendship with Joan survived and flourished. And Kasha's little girl is Joan's favorite child.

Lee Frederick is a script clerk. She met Simone when the actress went to work in "Under Two Flags." Simone didn't finish the picture, but out of it came a lasting friendship with Lee. The story is that it started with a memorable fight. Simone was temperamental, and Lee didn't like temperament. Lee told Simone off. Now Simone tells Lee everything.

Ruth Parris is Joan Blondell's hairdresser. They met when Joan first came to Hollywood. When Joan married Dick Powell, it was Ruth who was maid of honor. That rather surprised Hollywood, according to screen stars selecting other screen stars to share the spotlight on such occasions. But it didn't surprise Ruth, nor Joan. They're regular people.

Ruth once worked on Marlene Dietrich, but quit. Dot Ponderel, the make-up girl, got along with Marlene better. Dot made up Dietrich for her first Hollywood test, and has been with her ever since. If she's assigned to other stars while Dietrich is making a picture, Dot gets up earlier to finish the others and be free for Marlene. Stays on the set with her, and even gives her evenings to prepare. Marlene for special events. Marlene's gifts are things like this: set-tees, gifts personally when Dot is furnishing a house. Sends her own doctor when Dot is ill. Presents elaborate gifts on the slightest provocation. And likes her for herself, which some people think is nice than gifts.

Fieldsie and Carole Lombard were Seventh bathing beauties together. When Carole forged ahead in films the first thing she did was put Fieldsie under long-term verbal contract as secretary. Fieldsie lives at Carole's house, takes care of her income and interests, and makes Lombard worry about her because she works so much. Fieldsie gets as much kick out of Carole's success as she used to get out of her own. Like the other girls, she's happy to share the confidences if not the fame of her employer.

PREVIEWED

Today

Broadway: "Ever Since Eve." With Marlon Davies bolstered by Bob Montgomery and with the two of them aided through a trite story by the addition of such comedy stars as Allen Jenkins, Patsy Kelly, Frank McHugh and Louise Fazenda, this tale of a writer who does his best work under romantic conditions is adequate entertainment and fairly funny most of the way. A Warner Brothers picture under the Cosmopolitan banner and directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Kingsport: "Easy Living" and "Meet the Misses." A problem story and a comedy are the double feature offerings at the Kingsport, the first with Edward Arnold in another of his weighty character assignments with Jean Arthur, the second a hilarious comedy achievement with the stage stars Victor Moore and Helen Broderick.

Orpheum: "Clarence" and "Bold Caballero." Roscoe Karns and Eleanor Whitney are to be seen in the first of the Orpheum efforts, the story of a human worm who turns much to the delight of any audience. "Bold Caballero" is the other attraction with Robert Livingston.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Captains Courageous." Hailed by critics everywhere as the finest cinema achievement of many years, Rudyard Kipling's spectacular story of the sea comes to the Broadway in all the warmth and color of a motion picture masterpiece. Essentially the story of a snobbish little boy who learns the meaning of love and sacrifice from a sea captain, this picture is brilliant in acting, in visual effects and in superlative direction. Storm scenes at sea, the almost unbelievably beautiful photography plus the earnest acting of a talented cast, combine to make this play a four star triumph from the studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The players in the drama include Freddie Bartholomew, now suffering from salary difficulty in Hollywood, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas. Although the acting is correspondingly excellent, Spencer Tracy's characterization of Manue is particularly standout. A don't miss play, recommended to everyone.

Kingsport: "Saratoga." Jean Harlow's last picture is one of her best in this race track story of a girl of the turf who becomes tangled up with a big time gambler with laughable results. The whole show is witty, fast paced and lavish in its settings and the race track scenes are excitingly done. The show stars Clark Gable, plus Walter Pidgeon, Lionel Barrymore, Frank Morgan and Una Merkel. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by Jack Conway. Those who admired the late Miss Harlow's screen work will find this play much to their liking.

Orpheum: Same.

AT SUMMER THEATRES

"Point Valaine," a drama in three acts, presented by the Maverick Players at Woodstock last night under the direction of Robert Elwyn with settings by Albert Edward Milliken and the following cast:

Stefan Frank Rothe
Lola Ottilie Schroeder
May Nina Partridge
Mrs. Tillet Betty Macdonald
Mrs. Birling Robb Batcheller
Mrs. Birling Betty Stiller
Elsie Birling Dortha Volz
Mortimer Quinn Don McHenry
George Fox Robert P. Smith
Ted Burchell Edward Brooks
Linda Valaine Velma Royton
Mrs. Hal-Fenton Eileen Cramer
Phyllis Jean Woodford
Glady Elnora Spingarn
Hilda James Frances Bayler
Martin Welford James Roberts

Conversation in a sultry setting made little point in Noel Coward's "Point Valaine" at the Woodstock Maverick Theatre last evening and in a play which worked itself into a frenzy of sexual difficulty, a hard working cast of performers went through numerous changes of scene to no avail. Noel Coward must have undergone a breathing spell when he penned this trite tale of lust in the tropics and the Maverick cast is to be congratulated for breathing the breath of life into a drama as feeble as the light of a candle in a draughty room.

"Point Valaine" shows almost every human weakness during the course of its duration. Practically every character who makes an entrance and exit is filled with inhibitions and tastes of the animal variety. It is a play which devotes itself exclusively to the lusty call of sex and very rarely is there a faint ray of the expected Coward genius of expression. Despite this, the Maverick Players last night struggled on and on and on to end up with a suicide, some philosophical talk, a brittle closing sentence and a dampish feeling that white men ought to stay out of the tropics for their own good.

There may have been some brilliant undercurrent of thought, some overlooked sophistication in last night's effort, but if there was it remained a closely guarded secret. The play, at best, is ill-timed love dressed up in white dannels, mess jackets and dinner dresses parading before a backdrop of blue tropic sea.

The action takes place in a hotel situated on a South Sea island. The island water is infested with sharks and the hero of the piece tosses himself into their care at the close of the show. This is completely understandable after three acts of tragedy and sadness.

The hotel is owned by a woman, a woman past the prime of life, who has spent her spare moments in having a violent love affair with her head waiter, a Russian whose jealousy wrecks everybody concerned when he discovers that his mistress has taken time out for new conquests. The object of her affections is a youthful English guest, come to the island to repair a shattered mind and body from the effects of an airplane crash. He falls honorably in love with her but goes his way in sorrow when he finds that she is the mistress of a servant. The scene of the betrayal is hectic stuff, with the Russian servant accusing his mistress of infidelity while the aviator hides in a closet and disavows what a mess the whole sordid affair is. The scene ends when the servant splits in the face of the woman he loves and everybody is unbearably unhappy about the whole business.

The Maverick cast worked hard to get the play across last night but it was lacking in substance and it stopped where it began without reason or purpose. The finest thing about the offering was the set dressing. This was a work of art and it did much to give the play a sense of charm and value. The acting was on the usual high level expected from the Maverick this season and it was too bad to see such talented performers waste their work on trivia of this type. The play is an earthy story of sinning, devoid of humor and obsessed with the idea that lust isn't such a bad idea if it can be held under moderate control. It will play tonight, Saturday and Sunday with a curtain at 8:45.

The members of the Grange will have a picnic supper at Hardenbergh's mill pond grove on Monday evening, August 16. The Grange will

Mass Attacks Mark Madrid Air Action

By ALEXANDER H. UHL

Madrid (UP)—You can't name a hero on the fast-flying loyalist air force.

For one thing, the government scrupulously guards the names of its flyers, many of whom are still in their teens.

For another, air battles no more are the glorious affairs of the World War, when a Rickenbacker or a Richthofen could single out an enemy and send him crashing to the ground.

Like Naval Fleets. As seen from Madrid, they resemble naval combats. Squadrons of from half a dozen to as many as 50 planes go against enemy squadrons. They maneuver for position. When a ship is brought down it is not so much the prowess of the individual pilots as the swift intervention of other planes at the right moment.

But although residents of this besieged city have no air heroes, they have formed attachments for planes. Having stood open-mouthed watching, time after time, that most thrilling spectacle of modern warfare, an air battle, they have become acutely plane-conscious.

In Madrid, the populace has given pet names to air battleships. "Fly" and "Snub-Nose."

Their favorite is a snub-nosed, fast fighter with retractable landing gear. What makes it a favorite is the fact that the daily bombing of the capital in the dark days of last November ended abruptly when this snub-nosed bird first appeared. The Spaniards immediately dubbed it a "chato." That's Spanish for any snub-nosed thing. Chatos are made under American patents. So is the next in rank, the "mosca." "Mosca" means "fly." Anyone who has seen these tiny, speedy craft in action, buzzing around annoying the enemy until the more deadly chato can get into action will know they are well named.

So popular have the pet names become that even official government bulletins use the terms freely.

Washington Amateurs Matched With Best Adirondack A. A. U. Boxers Here Tonight

Tonight is fight night at the municipal auditorium, where a special bill of fights, sponsored by the Adirondack A. A. U., will go on featuring a team of four scrappers from Washington, D. C. The District of Columbia battlers, the cream of the crop from the nation's capital, will oppose the best pugilists in the Adirondack division—Buddy Emerson of Kingston, Mario Severino of Schenectady, and Joe Triola of Albany.

On the Washington team, which comes highly recommended, are Jimmy Gregg and Jimmy Briscoe, lightweights, Weynon Stewart, featherweight, and Billy Morris, welterweight.

Communications from the Police Athletic Club of Washington, where the boys do their training, herald the D. C. scrappers as worthy of only the best opposition. In Emerson, Triola, Severino and Elacqua, the Adirondack A. A. U. feels that the visitors will be bucking up against contestants who will give them plenty of competition.

Emerson and Triola are rated as two of the hardest punchers among the Adirondack lightweights, Severino is looked upon as one of the best heavyweights prospects for the top in amateur or competition ever developed upstate, and Elacqua is the boy who beat Tommy Zapp, Glasco prize, before he turned pro.

The preliminaries on the card are expected to give plenty of action. In one of the three rounds, Joe Nary, George Fay's 150 pounder from East Kingston, will make his ring debut against Leo Gentner, another beginner from Kingston.

Jimmy Thomas, Albany welter, is down with Joe De Vito of Schenectady for three, and Johnny Freeman, Catskill's 135 pounder, is matched with Kid Robinson of Gage street.

The entire card is as follows, the first bout being scheduled for 9 o'clock:

Main Events.
Jimmy Gregg, Washington, D. C., vs. Buddy Emerson, St. Remy, five rounds, lightweights.

Semi-Final.
Joe Triola, Albany, vs. Jimmy Briscoe, Washington, D. C., five rounds, lightweights.

Special Event.
Mario Severino, Schenectady, vs. Weynon Stewart, Washington, D. C., five rounds, featherweights.

Preliminaries.
Phil Elacqua, Albany, vs. Billy Morris, Washington, D. C., five rounds, 145 pounders.

Jimmy Thomas, Albany, vs. Joe De Vito, Schenectady, three rounds, 145 pounders.

Johnny Freeman, Catskill, vs. Kid Robinson, Kingston, 135 pounders.

Joe Nary, East Kingston, vs. Leo Gentner, Kingston, three rounds, 150 pounders.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT
(By The Associated Press)

New York—Stan Pinto, 214, Dallas, pinned Joe Dusek, 224, Omaha, 22:15.

Irrington, N. J.—Danno O'Mahoney, Ireland, threw Jim Auster, Italy, one fall (heavyweights).

Washington—Ernie Dusek, 228, Omaha, threw Bob Russell, 221, Chicago, 24:00.

St. Louis—Nanjo Singh, 215, Bombay, India, pinned Eddie Newman, 225, New York, body block, 11:46. Sol Slagel, 225, Otis, Kas., threw Gene Bowman, Chattanooga, Tenn., "klinging wood" hold, 13:05. Warren Rockwink, 218, St. Louis, and Ellis Brashara, 222, Oklahoma City, wrestled 30 minutes to draw.

Colt Cost Chicago Owner $26,000
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—Warren Wright, of Chicago, today owns the highest priced colt to emerge from the historic Saratoga sales in the past two seasons, a bay colt by Imp. Sir Galahad III—Marching Along by Man O'War. Wright paid $26,000 for the colt.

The record price, paid at the sales last night, eclipsed by $1,000 the amount laid down for another Sir Galahad III colt by John Hertz, also a Chicagoan. Hertz outbid Mrs. Ethel V. Mars at $25,000, a price which helped raise the total for the 53 head sold to $189,325, a new high for the 1936 and '37 sales.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
(By The Associated Press)

Cleveland—Patsy Perroni, 187, Cleveland, outpointed Steve Dudas, 186, Edgewater, N. J. (10).

New York—Leonard Del Genio, 142, New York, outpointed Bob Pacheco, 146½, Los Angeles (10).

Huntington, W. V.—Red Bush, 170, Cumberland, Md., knocked out Walter Ketchell, 165, Houston, Texas, (3).

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR IN MASS HANDICAP
Boston, Aug. 6 (AP)—International turf flavor, missing since the Great Papyrus, Epinard, and the ill-fated Phar Lap invaded these shores, adds distinction to tomorrow's third running of the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

Three foreign-bred horses are listed as almost certain starters against the cream of America's handicap stars.

They are the two Chilean-born entries, Sahri II, owned by C. J. Shockey of South America, and Caballero II, owned by Mrs. Hirsch Jacobs, who claimed him from Shockey; and Raoul Walsh's French-bred Grand Manitou. Since reaching America, Sahri II, a mare, has won three races out of four, and Caballero II four straight. Grand Manitou, somewhat erratic, recently won two overnight stakes and appears to be approaching top form.

Birdseye View Of Sports Events

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—So Mike Jacobs moves into the Garden? Well, there wasn't much else for the Garden dictators to do. . . . The big money in fighting is in the heavyweights and Mike has almost all the good ones in his pocket—Louis, Braddock, Schmeling, etc. . . . The deal makes Jacobs absolute czar of the cauliflower ear industry. . . . They'll all have to call him uncle from now on. . . . Everybody is wondering what will happen to Jimmy Johnston, for years maestro at the Garden. . . . This corner predicts an early tie up between Jimmy and Jacobs which would be highly advantageous to all concerned.

Is it against the rules for the Yanks to hit a single any more? The Los Angeles pro football team will try to buy Sammy Baugh, the forward passing expert of the Texas Christian, from the Washington Redskins. . . . What's this, the Dodgers have a big trade cooking? . . . Properly handled, there is a bright future ahead of Sandy McDonald, the Dallas Tex. heavyweight, who goes against Eddie Hogan in the Garden tonight. . . . Anybody wanting to see a couple of ball par's, should see Mike Jacobs. . . . He has 'em and doesn't need 'em, what with just acquiring the Garden bowl.

Maybe you have often wondered what a ball player says to an umpire just before a run-in. . . . We can tell you what one said. . . . Down at Richmond, Va., the other day, a sandlotter told his niblings he was wanting to do a little long time. . . . And hauled off and socked the ump's squarely in the old kisser. . . . "Big Six" conference coaches all say look out for Elmer Hackney. Sophomore back at Kansas State this season. . . . They call him the "One Man Gang" and every coach in the conference will be pointing for him. . . . In Tommy Parr's book, Tommy Langman of Philadelphia rates as the cleverest and smartest fighter the Welshman ever faced.

We told you Mike Jacobs was walking fast again. . . . The Garden deal is the answer. . . . Dr. James Stotter, New York beauty specialist, rates boxing writers the best looking and with the rod and gun guys second and the newspaper writers, third. . . . The baseball writers, (poor mugs) were a bad last. . . . What the eminent Mr. Sid Mercer and this writer (who cover both baseball and boxing) want to know is where we stand. . . . About 50 big league scouts (who passed him up as too old) refuse to read the box scores the day after Lou Fette pitches for the Boston Red Sox. . . . A western hotel refused to have Babe Ruthberger, (new road secretary of the Dodgers), paged in the dining room because it thought somebody was trying a rib.

Commodore Paul Mickelson is back from Newport where he has been mingling with the bloods. . . . He's looking good. . . . When he bumps into you instead of saying "Excuse me, mister," he gives you a haughty stare and says, "Sorry, old chap. . . . Don't be surprised if old Casey Stengel (big ears and all) bobs up as manager at Kansas City next season. . . . The Yank outfit, from Col. Ruppert down, is high on Casey. . . . Joey Archibald has been offered a title shot with N. B. A. featherweight champion Pete Sartori in Washington in October. . . . Vannie Alhause, the Syracuse grid star, has signed to play pro football with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

TUNEUP FOR MIDGET AUTO RACES AT ALEXANDRIA
Alexandria Bay, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—A dozen amateur drivers tuned up their tiny cars today over narrow village streets that will be the scene of one of America's strangest auto races.

Scheduled to drive in Alexandria Bay's annual 75-mile "Race Around the Houses" tomorrow, the drivers went over the course in minute detail preparatory to competing for the Frank G. Tallman trophy.

The idea is similar to the Vanderbilt Cup races on the Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, L. I., run on the European road race plan.

The course is "U" shaped and measures about a mile and a half. Each driver will be confronted with a right angle turn, followed successively by a "U" turn and another right angle turn.

All-Around Golfer

Budge and Mates On The Rye Courts
New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—Don Budge and his teammates in the Davis Cup victory turned today to the tennis courts of their homeland for further glory after a reception that reminded New York of the gala homecomings for the famous decade ago.

Budge with his doubles partner, Gene Mako, will play in the doubles of the Eastern Grass Court Championships, which open today at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y. After that he will play both single and doubles at Newport in the Casino Invitation Tournament. Then he points to his first national single title in the tournament at Forest Hills, N. Y.

Budge's teammates, Frank Parker, Betsy Grant, Wayne Sabin and Mako, will all participate in the singles at Rye, but Don will before unlimbering his terrific service and uncanny volleying.

Budge again declared he will remain amateur for another year, despite possible pro offers in box car figures.

After the team had been met at the pier by Dwight F. Davis, donor of the cup, and Holcombe Ward, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, they drove to a mid-town hotel atop a bus, while a band blared and New Yorkers gaped.

Walter L. Page, non-playing captain of the team, eulogized Budge's great play at a reception, calling the Californian "the greatest I've ever seen."

Grant, whose reputation was tarnished by his poor showing in the German matches, said he planned a comeback.

ROOKIES TAKE OVER
ONE-TIME NET STARS
Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—Three "rookies" of big time tennis enter the semi-final round of the Meadow Club's 47th invitation tournament today.

With Bobby Riggs, of Los Angeles, Hal Surface of Kansas City, and Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., in the penultimate round is Jiro Yamagishi, wily Japanese Davis Cup star.

The youngsters won their way into the semi-final by victories over some of the game's outstanding stars. Sidney B. Wood, Jr., one-time Wimbledon champion and a Davis Cup player, defaulted to Riggs after he had collapsed from the heat in the third set of a hectic match. Wood had taken the opening set, 7-5 and dropped the second, 6-2. He was trailing 4-5 when he collapsed.

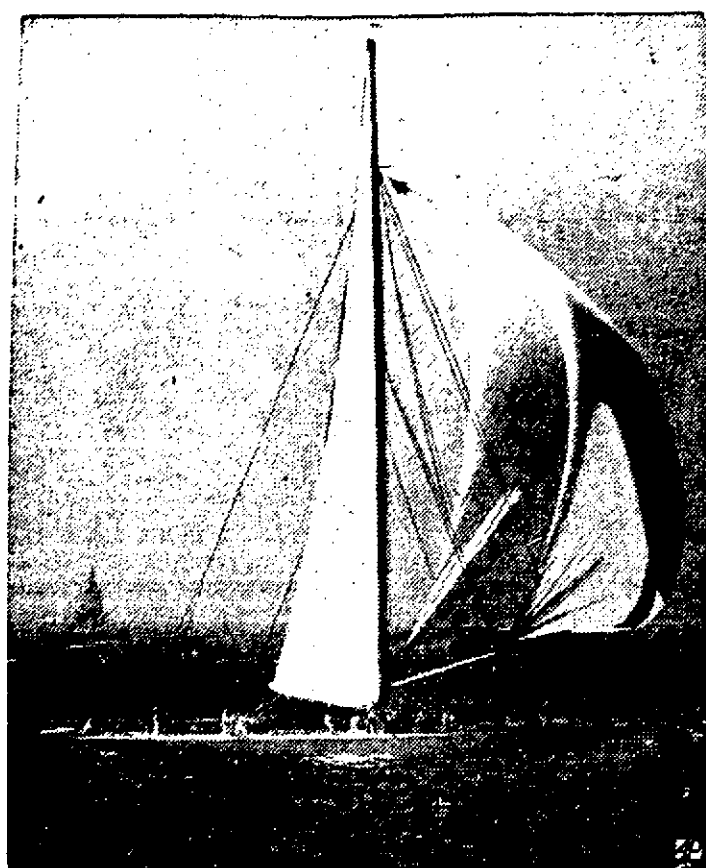

Second of the veterans to fall was Frank Shields, another Davis cupper, who lost to surface, 7-5, 6-1. Hendrix drubbed Gil Hall, of East Orange, N. J., 6-3, 6-4 to complete the rout of the veterans.

Yamagishi had little trouble defeating Gil Hunt, of Washington, D. C., 6-1, 6-1.

Wood and Frank Shields were forced to default their doubles match with Yamagishi and Fumiteru and the Japanese team reached the semi-finals as a result.

RANGER WINS AMERICA'S CUP

Getting off to a head start when T. O. M. Sopwith's yacht Endeavor II was forced to start over because it jumped the gun. Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger won the fourth consecutive race in the international series of Newport, R. I., and kept the America's cup in the United States. This striking picture of the Ranger shows her with her famous huge balloon spinnaker full of wind.

Better Boat Won Says Britisher

Newport, R. I., Aug. 6 (AP)—Even the vanquished conceded today the better boat won when Harold S. Vanderbilt's record-breaking Ranger thwarted Britain's 16th attempt to recover the America's Cup by taking four straight races from T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II.

Sopwith would not say whether he would challenge again, and Vanderbilt, "glad the strain is over," declined to indicate if he would attempt a fourth successive defense of the famous trophy if a challenge were forthcoming.

Sopwith and Vanderbilt both turned attention today toward a series of races scheduled by the New York Yacht Club starting at New London, Conn., August 16.

Competing in these races will be five Class J boats, a record for this country. Ranger and Endeavour II will have as opponents three veterans of previous cup campaigns. They are Sopwith's first Endeavour, which failed to lift the cup in 1934; Chandler Hovey's Rainbow, which Vanderbilt defeated the old Endeavour that year; and Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee, which took second place in the last three defense trials.

Sopwith, among the first to congratulate Vanderbilt after Ranger's decisive triumph yesterday, said without reservation the defender possessed more speed than his big blue challenger. He predicted Ranger had ushered in a new era in yacht construction, declaring her remarkable speed was proof of the value of testing models in tanks.

Guess Is Sopwith Will Not Quit
Newport, R. I., Aug. 6 (AP)—Best guess is that T. O. M. Sopwith will be back with another challenge for America's Cup within two years. He won't commit himself now but once the cup "bug" has bitten a yachtsman, he's difficult to discourage. It doesn't seem to make much difference whether they win or lose. Sir Thomas Lipton couldn't win and Harold S. Vanderbilt can't lose, it seems, but they apparently found it equally as fascinating as it is expensive.

Trudy Happy On Channel Swim Day
Hempstead, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—The page one streamers said: "Trudy Swims Channel."

That was 11 years ago, today—and today Gertrude Ederle sat on the little porch of her frame home as some of those who remembered came by and said hello.

She said she might go into the water later in the day. "Not for a swim," she explained. "I don't go swimming any more; I go bathing."

She laughed when she said it. She's got just as good a laugh now as she had 11 years ago and she still can laugh at the fortune she brushed right past without recognizing.

"But I'm out of swimming competition forever," Trudy said. "I'm 30 now, and getting to be an old lady. I don't know anything sadder than seeing an ex-champion trying to make a comeback. Besides that, the swimming records they're hanging up now makes some of my old marks look silly."

"There's only one of my old marks that's still standing. Nobody's ever come closer than eight seconds of the unofficial time I set in the 300 meter swim."

She didn't even mention the fact that her crossing of the English Channel in 14 hours, 31 minutes still is the record for women.

"What do I care?" said Trudy. "The only thing left to swim is the Atlantic Ocean, and nobody can do that. And don't believe this stuff you've heard about my eyes going bad. I don't want any sob stories written about me."

It's all in the point of view. Communists are unpopular in Barcelona, Spain, because they're too conservative.

Baker Bowl Is Blamed For Phils Poor Showing at Home

(By The Associated Press)
Ask any National League pitcher to describe an egg crate, and the answer, nine times out of ten, will be the Phillies ball park.

"You can stand at home plate in that shoebox," is the general reply, "and pretty near throw a grand piano over that short right field wall. The boundaries are so close, that when you get up there to pitch, you haven't got room for your windup. Any pitcher who gets past a game there, deserves the Congressional Medal."

That's the reason the Phils are playing cellar ball at home in the National League, and shows nearly a first division record on the road. It also explains why the loop pitchers would rather take a salary cut than work in Baker Bowl, and why two of the better hitters—Bucky Walters and Rookie Lefty Lamaster, each have better than 500 averages away from home this season, and get their ears knocked off more often than not in Philadelphia.

The Giants and Cardinals are crying for flingers with their stuff, but with the Phils, because of that 280-foot right field home run target, they're as wasted as a bet on a long shot against Wm. Adair.

Every club is supposed to show to better advantage in their own back yard—but the Phils haven't a chance. To date this year, they've won 24 on the road and have dropped 23 on tour and 34 in Baker Bowl. No wonder they're in the cellar.

In the ten games they've played on their current road trip, they've won six. They're the first outfit to take two in a row from the league-leading Cubs since June 26. Lamaster started it against the pacesetter in Chicago with a seven-hit Tuesday. Yesterday Walters led the Cub bats in knots, allowed just four hits and finished on top 4-2, to make his season record nine victories and four losses away from home, compared to three wins and six setbacks in Philadelphia.

Yesterday's whipping cut the Cubs' lead to five games as the second-place Giants outlasted the Cincinnati Reds to take a 2-0 decision in 12 innings. Clyde Castleton, just out of the hospital and still suffering from the back ailment that put him there two weeks ago, allowed eight hits to best Lefty Lee Grissom in a close one.

Iron-Horse Lou Gehrig found the range with a pair of homers, and the Yankees swept their four-game series with the White Sox and stretched their American League lead to nine full games with a 13-8 decision. Jake Powell was sent to the hospital after being tagged by one of Monte Stratton's fast ones.

The Red Sox staggered through with a 5-4 edge over the Indians, thereby extending their streak to ten games without a loss. Hank Greenberg's homer gave the Tigers a 5-3 win over the Athletics. The Browns belted the Senators 7-4.

Brooklyn's Dodgers made it two in a row over the Pirates by a 9-6 margin. Danny McFarland, light in the pinches, pitched the Bees to a 4-1 win over the Cardinals.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland Water Main Extended

Highland, Aug. 5.—The Highland Water company is extending water main through Church street during the relaying of the street. The pipe line as laid only extended to the residence now owned by Mrs. Edith Upright. Miss Emma Paltridge. To supply the needs of the Presbyterian manse and the house occupied by Walter Clark and El-Randall, water was piped from Main street. The superintendent, Mr. T. Schantz, is cutting in a valve at junction of Vineyard avenue and Church streets, and two valves at the corner of Church and Main streets. This will insure better circulation of water and should anything happen to the street it can be shut off and water come from the other end. A new main is being laid under the new highway near Grand and five hydrants have been placed on that street. The extension of another dead end water main is being laid the Little Italy road to the diner at Schmidt's garage, and a new hydrant is being placed near the Haviland boiler.

POINTS ON PACKING

Few men, we find, really know how to pack well. We offer a few fundamentals on how to get "multum in parvum" and

"What luggage should I take for a two-week cruise?" they ask us. "What is the newest type week-end luggage?" "Do you suggest taking a trunk or a number of suitcases on a European trip?"

For a ten or fifteen day cruise, we recommend two large suitcases or a large leather kit bag and a suitcase.

First, your shoes, each in a separate shoe bag, will be placed at either end of your bag. Your utility case, a zipper affair which keeps all your small toilet articles together, is next laid in the bottom of the bag. Your socks, rolled up, will be tucked into the intervening spaces. Then underwear, sweaters, polo-shirts, pajamas and robe.

The next layer will be your suits. The coats should be folded in half lengthwise, inside out, taking care to push the shoulders through the armholes, then fold across in half. Trousers, folded once in half, go on top of the coat. Shirts should be packed with the collars on alternate ends, and put in on top of suits. Put your ties in a tie case that keeps them in place—preferably the kind of case which may be hung up on reaching your destination.

Navy's War Dogs Get Sea Legs In Rigid Tests off Maine Coast

TESTING GROUND

Before any of Uncle Sam's ships can join the navy, they must undergo a series of trials on Penobscot Bay off the Maine coast. The one-mile test course is shown in the inset.

By HARRY E. FARNHAM

Rockland, Me. (AP)—Penobscot Bay on the Maine coast provides Uncle Sam the ideal testing ground for his fighting ships.

Nowhere else along the Atlantic coastline does the expanse of sea and the water's depth combine with proximity to mainland and deep water base to permit so well trials of sleek, gray destroyers and men of war.

All new vessels undergo trials on what is known as the Rockland measured mile course.

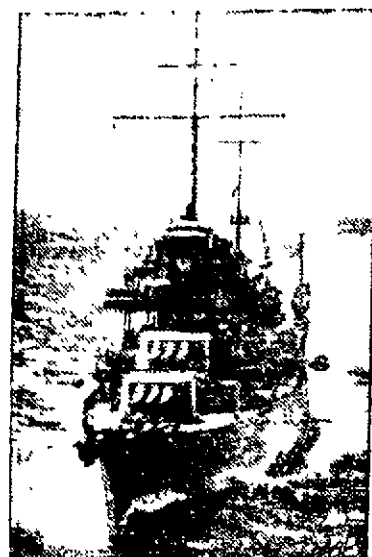

Smoke trials left by a ploughing cruiser provide those ashore with the only indication that a $10,000,000 ship may be going through a series of standardization trials that rack her rivets and structure and every integral part from stem to stern.

A technical group of navy experts, known as a "trial board," supervise the tests, but these tight-lipped gentlemen come ashore with never a word as to the results. The navy keeps its secrets.

Aside from ordinary tests for speed, oil consumption and other standardization paces, the ship must conform to rigid requirements laid down by technicians.

Among these are "turning a corner" with the rudder flung hard down at full speed. Or the mas-slave craft may "put on the brakes," with both anchors dropped while she travels at top speed.

For the conduct of speed tests, the course is "measured" by four land beacons, visible by day, lighted by night.

Two outside beacons, those nearest the sea, stand on islands. Inside beacons perch just opposite on the shore.

When a "light" by ship's officers shows the outer beacon lined up with its higher, mainland mate, the vessel begins its measured mile test, completed when it has the line made by the other two beacons.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Nettie Jones, veteran president of the West Shokan Ladies' Aid has prescribed the following savory and abundant supper menu to be served in connection with the annual West Shokan Baptist fair on Thursday, August 12: Virginia baked ham, creamed potatoes with parsley, candied sweet potatoes, buttered peas, sweet corn, tomatoes, cabbage salad, biscuit, pickles, cheese, jelly, home made cake, pineapple, coffee and iced tea. The affair will be in progress throughout the afternoon and evening, and there will be plenty of good lively music by the famous Phenocia Silver Cornet Band.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Artist and Mrs. Louise Brown, of Chicago, in company with their sister, Mrs. Edward E. Henry, of Kingston, were recent callers here. James Burgher and Edward Avery, Maple Dell Farm proprietors, made a business trip to Napanoch vicinity on Tuesday.

Mrs. Grace Winchell, of Sunny Cliff Farm, passed through here en route to Phenocia on Tuesday, supplying customers along the way. Nicholas Winkler, and family, have vacated their farm property and moved to Mr. Tremper. The new occupants, the John J. Sweeney family, of the metropolitan area, took possession on Monday. The Winkler farm and Colange property adjoining formed the old homestead of the Eckerts in Olive and several generations of that sturdy family toiled their lifetimes there.

Larry Keider and Buddy Large took in the races at Saratoga on Monday. They report having a well enjoyed trip.

Larry Keider is enjoying a well earned two weeks' vacation at his West Shokan Heights country home.

Mrs. Minnie Tapkin of New Brunswick, N. J., is visiting her brother, Judge Fred L. Weidner. Howard Trowbridge has rented the part of the John Marshall residence at Olive Bridge. Electrical contractor Donald Bishop is doing some work there.

Director Henry Winchell attended the August meeting of the Ulster County Grand Jurors' Association held Monday evening at the court house in Kingston. Judge Winchell states that some 40 members of the association have signed up to attend the picnic to be held August 15 on the Wilkins farm in Walker Valley.

Miss Cornelia Davis of West Shokan Heights is enjoying a visit with the Lester Peroneus family in Suffern.

John and Henry Bell of Brodhead Heights are drawing some of Judge Fred L. Weidner's surplus crop of hay.

Miss Barbara Nelson and girl friend, Winnie Weidner, enjoyed a shopping trip to Kingston on Monday.

The harvesting of the heavy hay crop at Maple Dell farm was completed on Friday.

Morton Roe is helping Jordan Brothers with their big summer harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry North and family of Congers spent several days over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hyde and family of Main street.

Large quantities of huckleberries have been toted off the Canape side of Old High Point during the past few weeks. Picking is still pretty good, reports say, although the season is past its crest.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dunsinberry and son of Modena were numbered among congenial Sunday callers at Sunny Cliff Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Longyear have returned to Brooklyn, where they will make their home after stopping at her home here Sunday from their 1,200-mile honeymoon trip. The route led to romantic Niagara Falls and vicinity, thence back easterly skirting the shores of Lake Ontario to the Thousand Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Every entertained at their home at Traver Hollow, week-end visitors from New Jersey.

Raymond Miller, with the assistance of Teamster Julian Eckert, harvested the hay on the South Mountain Dolan property, formerly the Constable brothers' farm.

Ex-Supervisor Chet Lyons' many friends were highly elated with the very excellent bid he made for the Republican nomination for county treasurer. Covering some 1,200 miles since the contest got under way, "Chet" visited every nook and corner of Ulster county. His clean cut, genial personality no doubt made a favorable impression with those with whom he came in contact, as the result of the balloting at the convention revealed him to be a formidable contender who failed to win by only a smattering of votes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bruckner and family of Phenocia were Sunday callers here at the home of their former neighbor, Mrs. William Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross W. Lynn enjoyed the week-end at their Traver Hollow estate.

Alonzo Burgher, sturdy handy man of all work at Maple Dell Farm, has contracted a stubborn summer cold.

Judge Fred L. Weidner reports that his spacious barn is crammed to the caves with hay, and some dozen loads of fine timothy still remains uncut.

Farmer James Harrison of West Shokan Heights has harvested his oats crop green for hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brocas returned to their home in Brooklyn Sunday after vacationing here.

A mid-week community prayer meeting will be held at the Baptist Church Wednesday evening. Preaching services as usual next Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. All are cordially welcome.

Bob and Ruth Pleasants are extending their vacation visit here another week.

Miss Mildred Roe of West Shokan Heights celebrated her 15th birthday on Friday.

All eyes readily note the great improvement made to Mrs. Lena Pleasants' Main street property, now that the thick woods underbrush has been cut away. Charles Barber is doing the work.

Janitor Philip Dwyer has completed his annual summer task of mowing and cleaning up the school yard.

The old shaded swimming hole at Flat Rock above the Bushkill Iron bridge continues in daily popularity.

Edmund C. Burgher reports making good progress with his haying.

West side folks joined in paying a final tribute to a kindly friend and neighbor, the Rev. Thomas Braithwaite, whose funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the Shokan Reformed Church.

When Mockingbird Sings
The mockingbird can take the wood thrush's music and sing it in a manner that must astound its originator, declares a bird man in the Kingston City Star. He sings it as if it were his own, for he is one of the miracles of Nature. With a brain chamber no larger than the tip of a man's finger, the mockingbird has stored therein all the songs that the wild birds know, and he sings each of them without omitting a trill or slurring a note.

VACATION TIME'S CAMERA TIME; TAKE PICTURES WORTH SAVING

Taking pictures to show your friends, to put in your album, is half the fun of vacation. Why not make those pictures really worth keeping?

You may value "hit or miss" shots for sentiment's sake or "for the record." But with a few do's or don'ts to guide you, your pictures can be exciting, beautiful, warm with human interest, prized for themselves alone.

Bob's pot shot of Jean's dog will not interest even Rover's admirers. Rover's head will look too large, he'll squint painfully, and his outlines will be fuzzy.

By taking Rover on a level with the camera, his proportions in the photograph will be right. By turning him for a three-quarters view, he'll not have to squint directly into the sun. To be sure the outlines will be sharp and clear, it's better (for an exposure of more than 1-25 second) to steady the camera on a box or other firm base.

In snapping views of vacation spots, remember these pointers:

1. Have one main object of interest such as a bridge or tree.
2. Have that main object above or below or to one side of the center, never directly at the center.
3. Put the horizon one third from the bottom or top, never cutting your picture in halves.

If you're shooting a picnic or camping crowd, don't line them up in rows. Have them doing something—spreading out the lunch, or wading in the stream.

Our 40-page booklet, SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY, tells you how to have more fun with your camera. Outdoor and indoor photography, composition, portraits, special chapter on children's pictures. How to win prize contests. Take pride in your pictures!

Send 15c for our booklet, SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

15 BILLION YEARLY IS COST OF CRIME

Chief G-Man Says Felony Occurs Every 24 Seconds.

Washington—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has urged the nation to "accept a quantlet thrown down by more than 4,300,000 persons who have chosen to defy our laws."

"The crime army threatens three persons out of every four in our United States, bringing about a succession of crime so magnitudinous that a felony occurs every 24 seconds," the chief G-man said.

He estimated the nation's annual crime bill at $15,000,000,000, or $28,500 per minute, $41,040,000 a day.

"It seems inconceivable," Hoover continued, "that in a country as advanced as America each setting sun should look down upon a daily toll of some thirty-six lives taken at the hands of the underworld—one such murder being committed every 40 minutes."

Hoover said records of the bureau for 1936 revealed 1,333,626 "major" crimes in the nation, including 13,242 murders and manslaughter, 7,881 criminal assaults, 55,600 robberies, 47,524 aggravated assaults, 278,823 burglaries, 716,074 larcenies and 213,712 automobile thefts.

"In analyzing the cost of crime a little further," he pointed out, "we find that it means a burden borne by each and every individual of $10 every month."

"Our greatest need in America today is a new type of mental vigilance on the part of our citizens, who will study conditions and who will realize that there cannot be safety from the depredations of the vast criminal underworld unless this safety is insured by the combined efforts of all right-thinking persons."

"Our citizens must become not only foes of corruption and inefficiency but the strong right arm of the honest law enforcement officer."

NAVIGATION NEWS

The Island Dock presents a busy picture these days as work is being rushed on several barges tied along the waterfront. The large James E. Elliott, recently purchased by James Hill, is being completely overhauled and, when finished, will be capable of carrying a cargo of 1,000 tons. The Edward Hedger is receiving a new bow, while the Standard, which was damaged at the beginning of the season in a collision with a ferryboat in New York harbor, is slated for a complete overhaul. The Robert E. Wicks of New York is hauled up on the marine railway, where she is receiving a complete new bottom. Over a 100 large planks will be used in replacing the bottom of this barge, which was eaten away by worms. The Wicks belongs to the Howard Line and is painted black and orange.

News of the Cleveland, the latest motorship which belongs to the Island Dock concern, and which usually ties up at the local dock for the winter, places her at Baltimore discharging a cargo carried from a western port. Her sister ship, the Detroit, is west-bound for Cleveland. The tug Sterling, which also is affiliated with the local boating interests, is in the upper section of the barge canal, bound for Buffalo, with the barges Andy, Mathew, Davin, Marie, Thurston, Robert, Byrnes and Barbara. The dredge Euphus is now at work bringing up sand from the bottom of the Rondout creek off the Island Dock.

The canal barges Sinclair and McConnell have left the R. Lenahan yard for duty in and about New York harbor. Other canal barges which are awaiting repairs at the local yard are now having work done on them are: F. M. Coogan, Hammond, F. W. Kelly, Gerstell, James T. Phelan. Three of the Dwyer Lighters, covered barges are docked: Dwyer 3, 4 and 27, with the latter fairly well torn apart preparatory to renewing the siding. A flat derrick barge, Rob, is stored in the slip, while the Nan, a similar barge, is at work at the Wilbur sandbank.

A small tug, the Lois Mae, is now docked at the Bluffbarr yard at South Rondout. She is painted black and red and is no larger than a small yacht such as can be seen on the Rondout creek. A number of barges are in at the yard for repairs, with work being done on the A. S. Butler and the Elaine, and also construction being rushed on the new coal barge, the third built at the Bluffbarr yard this year. The steam canal-er, James W. Follette, is tied up at the dock along with the three tugs, Mabel, Pine Grove and Empire No. 3.

The tug James F. Dwyer of Dwyer Brothers, Inc., is towing off on the large Canal. When last heard from, she was west-bound with the oil barge Rockland. The F. Y. Robinson, also a Dwyer tug, was in New York for her regular inspection the first part of the week, and is now bound for Rochester to pick up the oil barge Keystone, west-bound for Rochester with a cargo of fuel oil.

DEFENSE BEGINS PROBE IN ARSON RING CASE

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP)—The prosecution today attempted to delve into the past of George Muldello, 45, of Darien, Conn., as it began what promised to be a lengthy cross-examination of the defendant, on trial in county court as the alleged leader of a Westchester-Connecticut arson ring.

Assistant District Attorney William F. Horan asked Muldello on trial with Joseph Rainone, 28, of Springfield, Conn., if he hadn't at one time done some "snooping for the police."

Muldello admitted that he had once "snooped" for stills, assisting the Federal Internal Revenue Department, and volunteered the information: "I once broke a sergeant."

Objections by his counsel to further questioning along this line were sustained after Muldello had additionally volunteered the sergeant was now dead.

Similar objections to a query whether Muldello could recall being arrested by Connecticut state police in February, 1922 for burglary were also sustained after Muldello had answered he could not.

Muldello said on cross-examination that he had known the Rainone family about three-and-one-half years.

War Is Just A Footrace For Chinatown Printers

EXTRA: To set type from a case which contains 6,000 characters requires legwork as well as deft fingers. Here is a printer at work in the shop of "The Young China," Chinese language paper in San Francisco's Chinatown.

San Francisco (AP)—Five Chinese language newspapers, all dailies, are working overtime to keep San Francisco's Chinatown informed on the war in the Far East.

It's no easy job. It takes 6,000 separate pieces of type to print Chinese, and every line is hand set. The cases in which it is kept are a good hundred times as large as an American printer's case. The typesetter gets plenty of legwork as well as footwork.

Free War Extra
"The Young China," local organ of the Nationalist party, was out with the first extra. It was a sheet 8 by 12 inches announcing the capture of Fengtai and was distributed free.

There are some 26,000 Chinese in San Francisco, and all are in a hellish mood. A stream of letters and telegrams urging Gen. Chiang Kai-shek to fight it out with Japan has gone to the homeland.

"The Chinese of San Francisco are mostly Cantonese, and Cantonese are the backbone of the Nationalist government," said John Yeh-hai Chin, a younger leader in the local colony.

"We will certainly raise a fund for Red Cross work and whatever war materials may be needed. China has plenty of man power so there probably will be no recruiting here, except for aviators."

Factions Unite
When the Japanese invaded Shanghai the Six Companies—which are not a commercial concern but a benevolent society—started an aviation school here for Chinese youth. The project was given up but some of the Chinese went on to become pilots.

Although most of Chinatown's population is American-born, nearly everyone here has relatives in China and a heavy correspondence is carried on.

Newfoundland Dog One of Several in Large Class
The Newfoundland dog is one of our larger breeds that originated in North America, although there is reason to believe that its ancestors were brought to the American coast by European fishermen, notes a writer in the Chicago Tribune. A Newfoundland male in excellent condition may weigh up to 140 or 150 pounds, which easily takes him out of the lapdog class and puts him among our large-sized breeds.

As in the case with many breeds, the way the Newfoundland developed is a matter of conjecture. Some say he descended from the boardman. But it is pretty generally agreed that the breed developed in Newfoundland, and it also is pretty certain not one but several breeds were involved in its evolution. Whatever his origin, the Newfoundland is a courageous yet gentle, intelligent, and loyal heavyweight among dogs. He is a real working dog, as much at home in the water as on land.

Besides the Newfoundland, there are other large dogs. For example, both the Irish wolfhound and the Scottish deerhound are in the big class. The Irish wolfhound sometimes is referred to as the biggest dog in the world, but he has to win the title on height and length and not so much on weight, since there are other breeds which may weigh more than an adult male wolfhound. For example, a St. Bernard may weigh more than 200 pounds—even up to 220 pounds.

Softball Game On Bicycles
As part of the program for community night at Forsyth Park last evening, a softball game on bicycles was played and proved to be very exciting. Two teams from the playground, the Free Wheelers and No Brakes, played a close game with the Free Wheelers finally winning 18-17 at the end of the fifth inning when the game was called because of darkness. Burns, Clark and Cashin starred for the winners, while Sikes, Kushner and Short hit well for the No Brakes.

"Zero Hour" Nears In Conflict

ward of the Japanese forces, the American Consul at Hankow was said to have warned all Americans in his district north of the Yellow River to withdraw to places of safety.

An official intimation was given foreign diplomats by Japanese that the undeclared war for domination of the rich North China provinces might be extended as far south as the Yellow river.

Americans in the interior of Shantung province already were concentrating at Tsin-tao, eastern port city where part of the United States Asiatic fleet is based. The U. S. Consul at Tsinanfu, capital of the province which lies on the Yellow river, has advised American Nationals to flee the interior in view of the seriousness of the situation.

Japanese flotilla commanders at Hankow were said to have reinforced their contention with indications because of "increasing indications" Chinese forces surrounding the area might launch an attack.

Japanese authorities declared they would approach Chinese officials in an attempt to ease the situation which has resulted in Chinese and Japanese troops in full war facing each other across the barricaded roads.

Chinese merchants at Hankow were reported to have refused to sell Japanese residents rice, salt and gasoline on the ground they were "commodities of war." Chinese banks were said to have cancelled future exchange contracts with Japanese firms and requested Japanese depositors to close their accounts.

Driverless Auto Stages Runaway

Shortly after 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon Harry Grenoff of 13 West Strand parked his car on the Broadway hill in front of the Weber drug store. Shortly afterward the car unattended suddenly started to run down hill, jumping the curb and running down the sidewalk for a short distance and then into the road and across the street, crashing into the plate glass window of a vacant store at 40 Broadway, owned by S. G. Krayem. On the trip down the hill the runaway car collided with cars of Edward Weber, Dr. Jack Lehner and the Morgan L. Company, damaging them somewhat.

California has 3,600 CCC cars available for forest fire fighting.
